Graduation marks beginning, not end, seniors are warned

In his final act as a member of the Washington Senior High School faculty, Commander Robert L. Self led the Junior Naval ROTC Unit in the presentation of colors prior to the start of the graduation exercises for 157 Washington Senior High School seniors Sunday.

The program at Gardner Park was initiated by the processional played by the high school band, under the direction of Charles L. Shaffer.

After the Rev. Gerald Wheat offered the invocation, the Rev. Wilbur Bullock delivered the scripture reading and class sermon.

In the sermon, the Rev. Mr. Bullock stressed that the world "commencement" is very appropo for graduation exercises. Graduation is not the end of learning, but rather the beginning of the opportunity to utilize what has been learned in the past and will be learned in the future, he said.

The challenge of the "Class of 74" is to "make the world a better place to live than my generation has done," he said. "You are now in a position to shape the world in which you and your children will live," he said.

CLASS PRESIDENT Donald Wheat continued the same theme when he addressed those in attendance. In essence he said that the time for complaining was over and the time for action was at hand.Until now, he said, he and his friends had been given a world in which to live. Now it is theirs to improve or destroy, he said.

Keith Stimpert, valedectorian, also addressed the class. His approach was slightly different as he warned his classmates not to become so caught up in "knee deep philosophy" to lose sight of their obligation to live each day to its fullest.

Suggesting an ideal means of preparing for the future, without giving up the richness of the moment, Stimpert read "Desiderata," which was written in a letter to a troubled friend by a nun in the 1600's. The moving prose work was recently provided with a musical background to become a popular recording.

Principal Fred A. Jones presented the class to Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of the city schools, who spoke briefly to the class. He then introduced James Wilson and Walter Bienz, president and vice president, respectively, of the Washington C.H. Board of Education, who presented the class with their diplomas. Jones called the names of the new graduates.

MEMBERS OF the National Honor Society were called prior to the rest of the class. They were Keith Stimpert, Salutatorian Jill Willis, Bob Walters, David Ellis, Pam Stritenberger, Donald Wheat, Steve Pommert.

David Rittenhouse, Mel Wilkins, Ima Darling, Karen Beaver, Teri Mount, Lisa Smith, Kathy Entrekin, Cindy Fields, Jo Jordan, Brent Thompson, Mary Jo Burris;

More impeachment evidence sought

Panel turns to ITT probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee turns its attention this week to the ITT antitrust settlement, confident there's plenty to look at despite the special prosecutor's announcement absolving corporate officials of wrongdoing in the case.

"Our inquiry is completely independent of that," said Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., when asked about the effect of the prosecutor's finding.

John Doar, chief counsel for the impeachment inquiry, said that, "unless you start with the premise that every allegation is true, I don't think it yanks the rug out from under us."

Meanwhile, a committee member, Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., predicted Nixon would be impeached and tried in the Senate. Waldie appeared Sunday on the CBS program "Face the Nation," with fellow committee member Lawrence Hogan, R-Md.

Hogan did not agree with Waldie that Nixon would be impeached for obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up, but said that if impeachment does come "it will come in the areas related to Watergate."

On the West coast, six governors interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" said evidence sought by the committee should be released by Nixon. The six, attending the National Governor's Conference in Seattle, were Democrats Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Daniel Walker of Illinois, Wendell Anderson of Minnesota and Wendell Ford of Kentucky, and Republicans Tom McCall of Oregon and Daniel J. Evans of Washington.

Carter and McCall also said failure of Nixon to give up the evidence should be ground for removing him from office.

In the ITT phase of the impeachment inquiry, the committee is investigating the allegation that an antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation was settled in return for a pledge of financial help toward the cost of conducting the 1972 Republican National Convention in San Diego. In addition, it is alleged that perjury may have been committed by several administration officials during the Senate hearings on the nomination of Richard Kleindienst as attorney general. Last Thursday, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, in a letter to Rep. J. J. Pickle of Texas, ranking Democrat on the investigations subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee, said that part of the investigation relating to allegations of federal criminal offenses by ITT executives related to settlement of the antitrust cases "has failed to disclose the commission of any such violations ...."

"We were never pursuing that aspect," said Albert Jenner, minority counsel for the impeachment inquiry. Jenner indicated that the inquiry has focused primarily on whether President Nixon was aware of possible false statements by administration officials at the Kleindienst confirmation hearings.

Kleindienst pleaded guilty May 16 to a misdemeanor charge of refusing to answer fully and accurately questions from a Senate committee. Three members of the prosecutor's staff resigned in protest because they believed Kleindienst should have faced a more serious charge.

In a letter to James D. St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, Doar asked for tapes of 20 conversations that took place during the Kleindienst confirmation hearings.

St. Clair has told the committee the President has agreed only to turn over a transcript of one conversation. That one was with Mitchell and H. R. Haldeman on April 4, 1972.

Doar had said in his letter that he sought the tapes to determine whether the President or his aides took part in or had knowledge of "a plan or course of action, if any, which was designed to or did withhold from the Senate Judiciary Committee during the course of said hearings evidence to which it was entitled or to keep from the committee facts relevant to its inquiry."

In other Watergate-related developments:

—Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said Nixon was frustrating the impeachment process by threatening to make it "nothing more than an empty gesture, subject to executive veto." His comments were contained in remarks to be delivered on the Senate floor today.

Flurry of primaries set Tuesday

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer

The year's biggest flurry of primary elections hits eight states Tuesday when voters choose nominees to succeed retiring governors in California and New Mexico and a U.S. senator in Iowa.

Also at stake are nominations for senator and governor in South Dakota, a Senate seat in California, the governorship of Iowa and 76 U.S. House seats in the eight states. Forty-three of the House seats are in California.

Eighteen Democrats and six Republicans want to succeed GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan, who is stepping down after two terms and preparing for a possible White House bid in 1976.

Public opinion polls indicated the clear front-runners were Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr., 36, son of the governor that Reagan defeated in 1966, and Republican Houston I. Flournoy, 44, California state controller. Brown is California secretary of state.

In New Mexico, six Democrats and four Republicans are bidding for nominations to succeed Democratic Gov. Bruce King, who cannot succeed himself.

Iowa Democrat Harold E. Hughes is vacating his U.S. Senate seat, abandoning politics to become a religious lay leader.

Democratic Rep. John C. Culver is unopposed for the nomination for Hughes' seat. State Sen. George Milligan and State Rep. David Stanley, who lost to Hughes six years ago, are in the GOP primary.

Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa is unopposed in his party renomination bid. There are three Democratic candidates.

In South Dakota, Gov. Richard F. Kneip's bid for a third term is challenged in the Democratic primary by Lt. Gov. William Dougherty, his running mate in the past two campaigns.

Democratic Sen. George McGovern is unopposed for his party' renomination, while three Republicans compete to battle him in the general election, including retired Air Force Col. Leo K. Thorsness, who spent six years in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

U.S. House nominations are at stake in New Jersey, Montana and Mississippi.

In California, Sen. Alan Cranston faced only token opposition from two other Democrats. There were five Republicans in the race including state Sen. H. L. Richardson and Earl Brian, former health and welfare secretary under Reagan.

The California election could provide a test of potential reaction to Watergate and related political scandals.

Since 1969 Republican Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, 50, was considered the front-runner and apparent heir of Reagan's support for the gubernatorial nomination. But his support weakened and his campaign funds virtually dried up when he was indicted by a Watergate grand jury on three counts of lying to the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1972.

Californians also will decide a major political reform measure put on the ballot by petition campaign in reaction to Watergate.

Colson enters plea of guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential aide Charles W. Colson pleaded guilty today to a charge that he led an attempt to influence the outcome of the Daniel Ellsberg trial in 1971.

Colson pleaded guilty to a one-count grand jury indictment accusing him of obstruction of justice.

Other charges against Colson related to the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist were dropped in the surprise court development.

Indications were that charges against Colson in the Watergate cover-up also would be dropped.

The new indictment said Colson attempted to get the original Ellsberg case "tried in the newspapers."

Ellsberg, a former Pentagon analyst, had been accused of leaking the Pentagon Papers to the press.

But Ellsberg was freed in early 1973 when Judge Matthew Byrne found misconduct by the government in the case, citing wiretapping and the break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding.

The indictment to which Colson pleaded guilty said he devised and implemented "a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility of Daniel Ellsberg and those engaged in the legal defense of Daniel Ellsberg..."

Appearing before U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, Colson said "my motives and purpose were to neutralize Dr. Ellsberg as an antiwar speaker... It didn't matter to me that he was facing serious criminal charges."

Gesell set Colson's sentencing for June 21. The maximum penalty for the one-count indictment is five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Local government overhaul proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state must shift the balance of power from state agencies to local agencies, a special panel on local governments has recommended.

The Ohio Commission on Local Government Services, in a report completed last week, said county commissioners in particular should be given more jurisdiction in local matters.

County commissioners should be able to appoint county executives to free them to play a more legislative role, the report said.

Furthermore, commissioners should have the option to create departments of law, personnel, finance, detention and corrections, water and sewers, public works and health, the report said.

"The state of Ohio has long neglected its role in setting policy for the operation of its own agencies and those of its local units of government," the report said.

The state "has no logical financial distribution philosophy for its numerous grants to units of local government," it continued.

"Financial disparities between units of government abound. The formulas do not reflect local fiscal responsibilities. Tax effort and financial needs are not considered in state allocations. In short, the entire system is in need of overhaul."

Other recommendations in the report included:

—Creation of a seven-member, at-large board of county commissioners for counties of more than 290,000 residents.

—Elimination of the county treasurer, combining that responsibility with the office of an elected county auditor.

—Appointment rather than election of the county coroner and county engineer.

—A statewide resource recovery program in place of local waste management programs.

—A better definition of the role police play in enforcing local ordinances.

—A better balance between spending for mass transit and for highways.

—Regional and intergovernmental control of wastewater management.

—Better pay for local jailers and screening and diagnostic treatment for prisoners in county and city jails.

—Creation of a state data users committee to set up a statewide information system to assist in planning governmental services.

—Creation of a bond bank, with state backing, so that smaller communities can get bonds easier and save money on interest.

—Creation of a boundary commission to initiate changes in boundaries of cities, townships and special purpose districts.

Senate opens arms debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is opening debate on a $21.8-billion military procurement bill with emphasis on programs to increase the accuracy and yield of nuclear weapons.

The technological improvements advocated by the Defense Department to provide "strategic flexibility" are challenged as a potential stimulant to the U.S.-Soviet arms race.

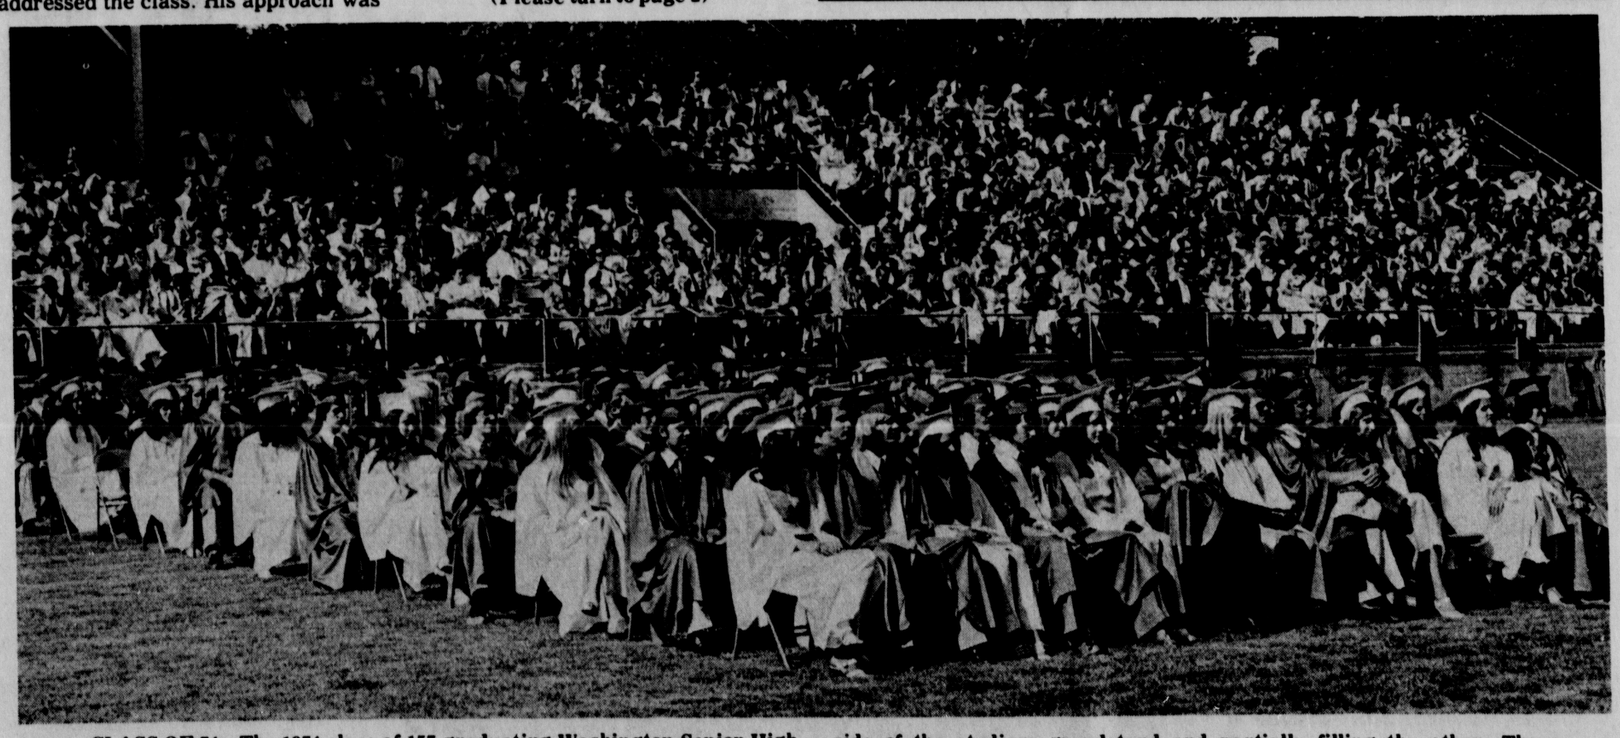

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., sees prospective U.S. ability to destroy Soviet missiles in their silos as possible provocation for a Soviet first strike in "an international wild west filled with fears and dangers of a nuclear fast gun."

Debate begins today, with a vote anticipated by midweek. The controversy highlights a congressional program for the week that will see possible action also on taxes, appropriations and an extension of the Sugar Act.

The House, which already has passed a $22.6-billion companion to the annual military procurement bill for fiscal year 1975, is scheduled to act Tuesday on a compromise $769-million supplemental defense procurement measure for fiscal 1974.

Wednesday, the House takes up a bill to extend the 1937 Sugar Act for five years with a reduction in federal payments to domestic sugar producers and a continued system of import quotas for 32 countries.

House action is slated Thursday on appropriations for flood control, reclamation and other public works projects and the Atomic Energy Commission, after final committee recommendations earlier in the week.

CLASS OF 74—The 1974 class of 157 graduating Washington Senior High School seniors atteded baccalaureate and commencement exercises at Gardner Park Sunday aftersoon. Thousands of friends attended, filling one side of the stadium grandstand and partially filling the other. Those students, 15 in all, who are members of the National Honor Society, were seated in the first two rows and wore gold honor cords. They were the first to receive their diplomas, followed alphabetically by the rest of the class.

Temperatures reached the 70s in sunny Ohio on Sunday. Warmest spot in the state was Toledo at 78. The Burke Lakefront Airport in downtown Cleveland reached a high of 66.

A band of showers moved eastward across Northern Ohio during the night. Precipitation amounts were a few hundredths of an inch.

Ohio is forecast to be under the influence of high pressure through Tuesday with little chance of any rain. High temperatures today are forecast from 75 to 80. Lows tonight will be 55 to 60.

Highs Tuesday will be in the 80s.

Mild with a chance of daily showers. Highs in the upper 70s and 80s. Lows in the upper 50s and 60s.

Fair skies cover U.S.

By The Associated Press

Hail and high winds have battered parts of northwestern Texas, but most of the nation has clear skies and warm weather today.

Fair skies are reported over the Mississippi Valley, Great Lakes, Southwest, lower Ohio Valley, Tennessee Valley, eastern Texas and much of the Rockies and western plains.

Thundershowers and thunderstorms continue, however, over the southern Atlantic coastal states and much of the plains and Texas. Northwestern Texas had 1¾ inches of hail Sunday, accompanied by a few tornadoes and winds gusting up to 60 miles per hour.

A cold front from western Montana to northern California blanketed the area with clouds. This cloudiness held temperatures along the Pacific coast to cooler readings than those reported inland.

Temperatures ranged from 38 degrees at Pellston, Mich., to 85 degrees at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and Needles, Calif.

Students end OU camp-in

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A small band of students who staged a camp-in over the weekend on the Ohio University campus left this morning after being threatened with trespassing charges.

The students, claiming support for the American Veterans Movement, had set up pup tents on the lawn of the administration building Thursday.

The students had vowed to drink only liquids and eat no food until OU President Claude Sowle met with them.

In a statement issued early today, university officials threatened to charge the students with trespassing unless they moved.

"We have tried to be patient with your protest effort," the statement said. "As you know, three times Thursday Dr. Edward Penson, at Dr. Sowle's request, offered to meet with representatives of your group and three times you refused . . ."

Stock list rally noted

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market greeted the news of a Chicago bank's reduction of its prime lending rate with a modest rally today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.46 at 806.63, and gainers held a lead of better than 2 to 1 over losers on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light, however.

The First National Bank of Chicago lowered its prime rate this morning from 11.75 to 11.60 per cent. Brokers said the news was welcomed on Wall Street, but it appeared many investors remained wary until they could see further signs that a turning point had been reached in interest rates.

Melville Shoe, the most active NYSE issue, was up ¼ at 8⅛ in trading that included a 96,900 share block at 8.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .06 at 81.57.

Commissioners explain dog regulations

Routine matters filled the agenda of the county commissioners Monday morning.

The commissioners reported that County Dog Warden Reginald David has investigated 26 reports of stray dogs during the past week.

They asked that residents be reminded that no animal injury claims can be honored if the complainant harbors or feeds stray dogs at his residence.

The county dog and kennel fund, supported by the sale of dog licenses, is available to reimburse the cost of damage or death of animals and livestock which are injured by stray dogs. However, if the owners of injured animals are found to have harbored stray dogs, their application for reimbursement cannot be honored, the commissioners said.

They noted that the license fees are the sole means of support for the salary of the dog warden and his assistant, the upkeep of the dog pound, and for the upkeep of the dog warden's equipment, as well as the animal injury claim fund.

Find jurors frustrated by courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many citizens called for jury duty feel frustrated by the inefficiency of the courts, a study prepared for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration says.

"Wasting jurors' time is a clear-cut example of the criminal justice system's indifference to the needs of citizens," said Administrator Donald E. Santarelli. "More efficient court operations can make jury service more attractive and meaningful to those who serve."

Santarelli said the efficiency recommendations proposed by the researchers could save the nation's courts $50 million annually.

The director of LEAA's research institute, Gerald M. Caplan, said the courts spend some $200 million a year in juror fees.

The survey of certain state and local courts in Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota, Colorado, New Jersey, Texas and Michigan was conducted by Bird Engineering Research Associates Inc. of Vienna, Va., with a $157,365 LEAA grant.

The researchers urged several procedural changes, including staggering trial schedules rather than starting several trials on the same morning, and notifying jurors in advance of days they need not report for duty.

Nation's governors open annual meeting

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The nation's governors open their annual meeting here today, saying they hope to avoid speculation about scandals in the nation's capital while claiming they are doing a better job of meeting the problems of the Watergate era.

Washington's Republican Gov. Daniel J. Evans, this year's conference chairman, told a news conference Sunday that in areas of campaign reform and government ethics, "states have quite clearly taken national leadership."

"In state after state significant sunshine laws, and other similar laws on ethics, on campaign limitations, on lobbyist reporting, open government have taken place while there has not been similar action as dramatic at the national level."

The opening day's business sessions included Evans' "State of the States" speech, a roundtable discussion with key congressional leaders of both parties and a panel on health care.

The health care seminar featured Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; American Medical Association President Dr. Russell B. Roth; and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar Weinberger.

All but four of the nation's governors are expected to attend the formal opening of the conference today. Govs. John Burns of Hawaii, Bob Ray of Iowa, Francis Sargent of Massachusetts and George Wallace of Alabama have said they would not attend.

On Sunday, the conference's executive committee approved a broad resolution, sponsored by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lucey, D-Wis., calling for reforms "at all levels of government."

The resolution, due for consideration by the full conference Wednesday, urges "loophole-free" campaign finance reforms in public campaign financing, strict ethics codes, wider disclosure of lobbying activities and greater openness in government.

Most of the questions at Evans' news conference and during an appearance of six governors on NBC's "Meet the Press" dealt with Watergate and President Nixon's refusal to supply additional evidence sought by the House impeachment probe and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Three governors from each party said Nixon should supply the material sought by the House Judiciary Committee. Democrat Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Republican Tom McCall of Oregon said failure to do so would be grounds for removing Nixon from office.

"He should give them everything they want or step down as President," said McCall, the only Republican governor who wants Nixon to resign from office.

"I personally believe the President is guilty, and I think that the release of evidence will prove it," Carter said.

Those who said they thought Nixon should provide the materials sought by the House panel were Evans, and Govs. Daniel Walker, D-Ill., Wendell R. Anderson, D-Minn., and Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky.

Evans was asked at the news conference if he could forsee a situation in which Nixon would be justified in balking at a Supreme Court order to supply Watergate evidence.

He said the question was "too speculative" but noted any court decision is composed of a verdict and a written opinion.

"The opinion itself may be highly qualified and as such might not clearly represent an impeachable offense if the President were to say 'No,'" said Evans, who is not a lawyer.

Disagreement emerged over the impact of Watergate on the mood of the country.

Carter, who heads the Democratic campaign drive for the November congressional and gubernatorial elections, said "Watergate is really an embarrassing thing for the American people.

"It's kind of like having an illegitimate child in the family. You know it's happened. You know who is responsible. But you don't want to talk about it much in public."

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A murkyism is a statement which gives the illusion of something profound. We cite as a prime example the saying, "He who would rule the sand must be brother to the wind."

Tonight, public television is offering a one-hour murkyism called "Video: The New Wave." It's described as "highly personal statements by a new wave of artists experimenting in the early stage of the video revolution."

It might better be described as "how to study under Ernie Kovacs and flunk the course."

Some 30 pieces of experimental video artwork are on display, many of them electronic abstractions in which shapes are altered, bizarre noises made and eyes tortured.

It will be a bonanza for those wont to cry, "How profound! How profound!" when a work of modern art has them stumped. For civilians, the show may simply appear the work of cuckoos.

However, both sides will enjoy a brief, funny sequence, taped by San Francisco's Top Value Television crew, in which CBS' Roger Mudd refuses to answer TVT questions at the 1972 GOP national convention.

Our knowledgeable guide throughout this tour of television's rarely seen avant garde gallery is an art critic, Brian O'Doherty, whose commentary is not unlike that of an art critic.

As one set of images shape up, he advises that the work is "reflective, transcendental, mystical."

As another artist electronically alters a photograph of himself and his father, we're told the piece "brings into this medium subtleties rarely found in it." He is right.

As we see a block of ice consumed by fire, we learn "the content is not in the result, but in the process."

The show's high spot arrives with a study of transparent tape on a wood floor. And our guide observes: "The tape as it lies asks, 'Where am I?' Removing the tape gives the answer."

After 40 minutes, I asked, "Where am I?" Removing myself gave the answer.

I know I shouldn't knock creative efforts, but I got to thinking about all this and, honest to Pete, the whole thing is plumb ridiculous.

Solon seeking U.N. position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry P. Smith III, a New York Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, says he is seeking appointment as a congressional liaison officer with the United Nations.

Smith, who is not seeking reelection, said he has been "working gently" toward obtaining the U.N. post after he leaves Congress.

The appointment can be made either through the U.N. or through the U.S. State Department.

Federal cash sought for child welfare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Welfare says it has asked the federal government for $650,000 to fund a series of management training courses for child welfare personnel.

Opinion And Comment

Slowdown saves lives

Occasional efforts are made to discredit that old highway safety adage, "Speed kills." The expression weathers all attacks because, unlike some glib slogans, it has a sound basis in fact.

The fact is that, all things considered, speed increases the frequency of accidents and the severity of injuries. There is no mystery as to the reasons for this; they have to do with the nature of human beings and the laws of physics.

The higher the speed of an automobile, the quicker the driver must react in an emergency. There are limits to human reaction time. If a driver is barely able to extricate himself from a tight spot at 50 miles an hour, he may not quite make it at 70 or 80. The extra speed makes the difference.

Higher speed also leads to worse injuries and more deaths. The faster a car is moving when it crashes, the faster occupants are hurtled from their seats at the moment of impact. The National Safety Council informs us that in a crash at 50 m.p.h. the chance of survival is four times greater than at 70 m.p.h.

This leads naturally into the Safety Council's heartening news that this year's three-day Memorial Day weekend brought the fewest auto deaths in 14 years. Reduced speed was not the only factor in this; some reduction in the amount of driving also played a part. But the most important element seems to have been a general slowdown on the highways.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Israelis fear for water supply

On a recent trip to Israel I tumbled to something that escapes the headlines in all the stories about the Israeli-Syrian struggle for the Golan Heights. In practically every account of Henry Kissinger's maneuvering to find an acceptable cease-fire formula that will adjourn the bickering to Geneva (in our day peace talks are the continuation of war by other means), the big question revolves around militarily defensible boundaries. The Isrealis are naturally afraid of exposing their kibbutzim, or voluntary farm collectives, around the Sea of Galilee to Syrian artillery fire from close up. The Syrains, for their part, are frightened by the possibility that the Israelis might, some day, take off from the neighborhood of the town of Kuneitra for a sweep on Damascus.

These fears are real, but, for the Israelis, the need either to command or neutralize the Golan Heights region transcends purely military considerations. The Syrians could promise never to fire another shot at the Israeli kibbutz of Ein Gev, which nestles under the frowning upsweep of the Golan hills, and still the whole of the Israeli north would be at the mercy of Arab plotting. The menace is summed up in one word: water.

If you look at a large-scale Middle East map, you will see that the sources of the Jordan River are in territory that, before 1967, belonged to Syria. True, the upper Jordan waters empty into the Sea of Galilee in what has always been Israeli territory. From Galilee they flow on to the Dead Sea, mostly through contested land. One drawback about taking water directly from Galilee is that it is a slightly saline lake; to get really good water the Israelis must divert it before it enters Galilee itself.

THE ISRAELI pumping station for its whole artificial irrigation system is at Tabkha, not very far from the present Syrian border. If the Syrians could wreck Tabkha, they would have the Israelis at their mercy. Before the Six-Day War of 1967, the Syrians showed the utmost in ill-will toward the Israelis whenever water problems were discussed. The late Eric Johnston, one-time head of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, had worked out a plan for sharing water from the Jordan sources among the four nations of Syria, Israwl, Jordan and Lebanon. But the Syrians refused to accept the plan; they would do nothing, they told their Arab brothers in Jordan and Lebanon, that would help Israel become self-sufficient in food.

The 1967 war, which pushed the Syrians back from the Golan crests, did not enable the Israelis to put the Johnston plan into effect all by themselves. But it at least put some vital distance between their existing irrigation system and the Syrians. To give up much of the Golan would be to subject virtually the whole population of Israel to water blackmail. This would be even worse than oil blackmail, which, as the whole Western world now knows, is bad enough.

The Syrians and the Lebanese don't need water as badly as the Israelis — at least they don't need Jordan water. Lebanon has its own mountains and a goodly rainfall — it grew the cedars of antiquity that figure in the Bible.

As for Syria, it is, according to the Middle-East Intelligence Survey, engaged in complicated negotiations with Iraq and Turkey for the sharing of the Euphrates River water. The political squabbles between Turks, Iraqis and Syrians over parcelling out the water and hydroelectric power of the Euphrates multiply endlessly, and are complicated by Turkey's need for Iraq's oil. But Syria gets first whack at the Orontes River water before it flows into Turkey.

Syria isn't hunting for the lack of moisture the way Israel would hurt if the Jordan headwaters were to be diverted, as they might be if the Golan Heights were to be lost by the Irsraelis by connivance of the Big Powers of Geneva.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JUNE 4

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Get another's point of view before making final decisions. You may be pleasantly surprised at the new perspectives you gain.

TAURUS
(Apirl 21 to May 21)

Be flexible, but not easily turned by every wind that blows; eager to take new steps forward, but not at the cost of future losses or setbacks.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Curb a tendency toward inertia, lackadaisical action. Stress self-discipline. Current matters need further study. Some trends changing.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Lunar influences encourage well-organized moves, but you will need all your resourcefulness to straighten out a few kinks before "taking off."

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Stellar influences somewhat adverse. Shun contentious matters, unscrupulous persons, risky and untried ventures.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You may now expect a "different" approach from others; also a real surprise. The manner in which you meet these will have great bearing on ultimate aims.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Satisfactory gains indicated through carrying on with present operations, but day will not be good for starting new ventures.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may encounter a few baffling situations: Remain undisturbed, neither overanxious nor careless. Avoid excesses and extremes.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

An auspicious day. Seek solutions to pending problems through conferences, consultation with experts. Be concise and efficient without stepping on anyone's toes.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Mixed influences, mixed possibilities. How you react to opposition and unexpected obstacles will tell the tale.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Especially favored now: all creative efforts (writings especially), travel, meetings of purpose. Earnings can be increased through any of these avenues.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as surprising developments—and achievement—in recently stagnant areas.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely entelligent individual, highly imaginative and original in your ideas and methods. Your curiosity is boundless, thus you are unceasing in your quest for knowledge. This curiosity, incidentally, makes you a "antural" for the fields of journalism, science and exploration. However, your unusual versatility and readiness of comprehension fit you for many other vocations, and you could succeed admirable as an editor, musician, research worker, actor or novelist. You live travel but, unlike most born under Gemini, you have great stability, not scattering energies but content, when necessary, to "stay put" and concentrate on immediate objectives. Thus, you often succeed more quickly in reaching your goals.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Approximately one year ago, I had published in The Record-Herald an editorial criticizing local county authorities for the unsightly condition of Bloomingburg's burial grounds. Occasionally it takes an outsider's criticism to stimulate enough local interest to correct a condition that was not in the best interest of the community.

On Wednesday preceding the past Memorial Day, I again visited the Bloomingburg Cemetery, also the Washington C.H. cemetery, and was impressed with the neat condition of the burial sites in your community. In this regard, I want to express my appreciation to the local authorities for the improved conditions at the Bloomingburg site.

I am also aware that many within your community are appreciative and wish to express their thanks for your efforts to a worthy cause. They are hopeful this continues to be a year around effort.

Bowling Green resident killed

WESTON, Ohio (AP) — One man was killed and another injured Sunday when their helicopter crashed into an oat field near Weston in northwest Ohio, authorities reported.

The Wood County Sheriff's Department identified the victim as David Troxoll, 25, of Bowling Green.

A passenger in the helicopter, David Dimick of Bowling Green, was reported in fair condition in a local hospital.

Sheriff's deputies said Troxoll and Dimick purchased the helicopter recently for crop spraying and were testing it at the time of the crash.

Meshel becomes oil watchdog

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In the past few months Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, has taken on the job of oil company watchdog as gasoline prices went up and gasoline shortages grew less.

Since January he has introduced three measures aimed at oil company operations. He indicates more may be in the mill.

The latest Meshel bill would require all gasoline service stations to post their prices in a conspicuous place in lettering at least six inches high.

Meshel said he was trying to help the consumer.

"In these days when consumers feel the need to shop around for gas it is difficult to do so unless price signs are adequately posted so they can be read from the street," Meshel said.

"It is a waste of everyone's time for customers to wait in long lines for gas only to find upon getting to the pumps that the prices are inordinately out of line."

Meshel's bill also requires large signs telling whether a station is open or closed.

Meshel also has two resolutions pending in the Senate — one requesting a freeze in the prices of gasoline and diesel fuel for a year and the other asking for a similar freeze on oil and bottling gas prices.

The Youngstown lawmaker noted the two resolutions if adopted would only express the sentiment of the Senate and would not have the weight of law.

As Meshel knows, the view of the Senate can readily be made into a law if there is widespread support.

The bill dictating service station price signs and open and closed signs could become law upon passage by both houses and the signature of the governor.

Both resolutions would request the wholesale and retail distributors of gasoline, diesel oil, fuel oil and bottled gas to report present inventories and expected supplies to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

"The resolutions, offered at a time when oil company profits are soaring to new heights, seek to stabilize fuel prices throughout Ohio," said Meshel.

Nixon returns to White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has returned to the White House after spending the weekend at his Camp David, Md., retreat with his wife and friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

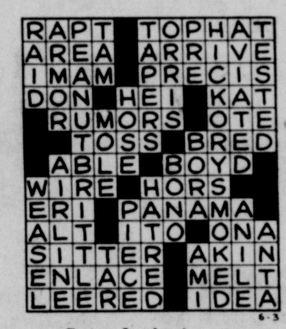

A spokesman said Nixon worked in his Aspen Lodge study on "foreign policy matters," presumably his planned trips to the Middle East and Russia later this month.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Wife has other ideas on lovey-dovey hubby

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a very loving husband. That's the trouble. He's TOO loving. For example, this morning he drove the kids to school and came back thinking I'd drop everything and make the bedroom scene with him. He often waits aroound until all the kids are gone, then he starts getting lovey-dovey when I should be getting my housework done.

Will you please tell him that the time for romance is after all the kids are asleep?

Also, he always get ideas after bowling. Bowling wears me out, but for him it's an afrodeeshiak (or however you spell it). I wouldn't mind if I could sleep the next morning, but I have to get up to drive the car pool. Am I wrong to complain? After all, we're not newlyweds. We've been married for 17 years.

NO BRIDE

DEAR NO BRIDE: The ideal time for romance is when both parties are in the mood and have nothing else to do, but unfortunately that's not always possible. I say, shoot the ducks when they're flying-the housework will keep. And if the situation were reversed, I'd advise the husband to do the same.

DEAR ABBY: That answer you gave "Mad at My Husband" the gal whose husband objected to her wearing a dress with a plunging neckline-sounded like something out of the Dark Ages.

You said "Some husband don't mind if their wives dress sexy, but if yours does-don't!"

Abby, you're dead wrong. A woman is entitled to dress any way she chooses, and no one, including her husband, has the right to dictate otherwise.

Would your answer have been the same if a man had written to say that his wife objected to the way HE dressed?

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: You bet your sweet bippy! (More than one wife wrote to complain because her husband had started wearing his pants too tight. I advised her, "Tell your husband that if he wants to wear the pants in the family, he should wear 'em a little looser!'")

DEAR ABBY: Iam a happy-go lucky 25-year-old guy who is still in shock by something that happened to me last week.

I went to a newsstand where they sell magazines and paperback books. I got interested in a magazine and started to read it. I was standing there maybe 30 or 40 minutes, reading, when the lady who works there came up and said, "I think you've been here long enough. Either buy that magazine or put it back and leave."

Abby, I was so embarrassed, I put the magzine back in the rack and left. A couple of people heard her, and I really felt cheap. Aren't those magazines put out for people to look at? I wasn't bothering anyone or making a disturbance. Did that lady have the right to tell me to leave?

RED FACE

DEAR RED: Yes, but she could have done it quietly and spared you the embarrassment. Leafing through a magazine to decide whether to buy it is one thing-reading it is something else. Magazines that have been read by half a dozen people are fairly shopworn and not easy to sell.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.P.: Look at it this way. Hypertension is the price you pay for being a race horse instead of a cow.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069. Enclose stamped, self addressed envelope, please.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, June 3, the 154th day of 1974. There are 211 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date —

In 1621, the Dutch West India Company received a charter for New Netherlands — now New York.

In 1808, Confederate President Jefferson Davis was born in what is now Todd County, Ky.

In 1937, the Duke of Windsor married Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, Md., in France.

In 1942, in World War II, Japanese warplanes raided Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

In 1962, 30 members of an Atlanta, Ga., art group were killed in an airliner crash at Paris, France.

In 1966, a surveyor one spacecraft was relaying back pictures of the Lunar surface after making America's first soft landing on the moon.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson described American military might as awesome, saying it exceeded the combined might of all the nations in world history.

Five years ago: President Nixon denounced what he called the self-righteous moral arrogance of college extremists but urged the nation to heed the demands of the young for honesty in American life.

One year ago: a Soviet supersonic airliner crashed during an international air show near Paris, killing the six crewmen and seven French villagers.

Today's birthdays: Actor Tony Curtis is 49 years old. Poet Allen Ginsberg is 48.

Cash seen best investment

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Economic instability is producing some odd consequences in the financial markets. Cash, for instance, is considered by many to be the best investment, all things considered.

The main ingredient of that term "all things" is doubt— doubt about the likelihood of economic equilibrium returning soon, doubt about the chances of conventional investment outlets growing more attractive.

Stockholders of Slater, Walker Securities Ltd., a Londonbased conglomerate, were growing increasingly restless as they saw the firm's assets sold off for cash. Financial trouble? No. As the chairman explained at the company's annual meeting, the world's economy is in a critical condition. It is becoming increasingly difficult to invest in industry because of stock market slumps and socialism.

Cash, he told relieved shareholders, is "high yielding, relatively secure and easy to manage."

American money managers also seem attracted to cash. Mutual funds are organized to invest mainly in corporate shares. But many mutual funds are keeping a large portion of their money in cash instead of stocks.

Ironically, this conservative posture may be one of the big reasons why the stock market fails to move ahead. If money remains on the sidelines it is of no use to the stock market.

While the cash position of mutual funds is now approaching 10 per cent of assets, a very high figure, the cash position of bank trust departments may be even higher. They too are reluctant to commit their cash.

While investor indolence has a history of many months, a new factor conceivably could be introduced that also would keep money from being invested in productive industry. It's an old element: Gold.

The U.S. Senate last week voted to permit Americans to own gold beginning Sept. 1. The gold market, which has been quieting down in recent weeks, grew excited again.

Based on the manner in which Americans have been collecting antiques and silver and plates and art, which they feel have intrinsic as well as paper value, they would also hoard gold if they were permitted to get their hands on it. They have been forbidden to do so since 1933. Informed guesses now suggest the House will balk again at granting permission.

Priest speaks with newsman

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. John D. McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest who works as a White House aide, says that despite his political work "I'm available for weddings, funerals, baptisms—exorcisms."

Father McLaughlin, 47, said in an interview with People magazine published Sunday that "I've never performed an exorcism, but the time could come."

The priest, an ardent defender of President Nixon, stirred controversy earlier this month when he defended Nixon's use of profanity in the Watergate transcripts.

Hole devours old tires, other objects

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The four-foot wide hole in James Johnson's backyard has devoured 162 used tires and wheels, and he's a little worried about what the cavity might choose for its next meal.

"The size of the thing worries me," he said. "I'm afraid it might act like a funnel and just keep sucking things down."

When Johnson's wife first discovered the hole she thought it had been dug by a gopher and started poking with a broom handle to find the bottom. She failed.

As the hole grew, the family began to think it was an old well, capped at a depth of 32 feet, where metal and other debris were found. But since the tires have disappeared, they're not so sure.

Johnson fed the cavity its last snack in February 1973. He covered it and figured he had an entire backyard once more. But this week he checked it again, since he plans to extend his house that way.

"You can see just a few of the tires now," he said, "right at the very bottom."

The Johnson's hole has been chewing for quite a while. Mrs. Johnson recalled that a family which owned the house in the 1930s filled it up with gravel, metal and other fill—all of which disappeared.

"I just wonder where it's all going," she said.

MT bus driver re-elected OAPSE transportation head

A Miami Trace School District bus driver has been re-elected as one of the five department heads of the Ohio Association of Public School Employes.

Gilbert Jones, 46, of Jeffersonville, was first elected to the post last spring. As president of the transportation department of the OAPSE he is responsible for coordinating the organization's activities for transportation personnel.

One such activity will be the second annual transportation workshop to be held in Columbus this summer. Last year's workshop attracted 325 school employes statewide.

The OASPE concerns itself with the working environment of non-teaching school employes, including custodians, cooks, secretaries, bus drivers, educational aides and nurses.

The organization is responsible for the employes' retirement fund and maintain lobbyists in the Statehouse. There are 30,000 members.

Jones, a driver at Miami Trace for more than nine years, is also employed at Hidy's Foods. He is married and has one daughter, Alicia, who will begin attending Miami Trace this fall.

Angola crash fatal to man

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP) — A Toledo, Ohio, man was killed and his wife critically injured Sunday when their car went out of control on U. S. 20, five miles west of Angola, Ind., and struck a utility pole.

Police identified the victim as Wayne D. Vollmar, 38. They said Vollmar was a passenger in a car driven by his wife, Marilyn, 36.

Mrs. Vollmar was listed in critical condition at Cameron Hospital at Angola. The couple's three children — James, 11; John, 13, and Howard, 14 — were hospitalized in good condition.

UN TROOPS MOVE IN — United Nations vehicles move down in a street in the town of Quneitra in the Golan Heights. Quneitra is in the buffer zone between Israeli and Syrian forces after the disengagement agreement and has been a battleground since 1967.

Road crews to patch and mow

All three area road and street crews will concentrate on patching streets and roads and mowing berms this week. The Washington C.H. Street Department will continue painting curbs and center stripes.

Painting on Court Street should be concluded Monday, according to Bill Duncan, general foreman of the city street department. When Court Street is completed, painting will begin on others streets.

The Ohio Department of Transportation garage will be repairing guard rails in addition to mowing and patching. The full week's schedule was not available because Gene Gitzpatric, garage superintendent, began his vacation Monday.

The county will tackle drainage problems on Johnson Road, Madison Townshop, and on York Road in Perry Township, reported Charles Wagner, county engineer. Crews will be patching roads in Madison and Union townships and will work on culverts in Jeffersonville Township.

12 persons killed on Ohio highways

By The Associated Press

Twelve persons died in traffic accidents over the weekend, half of them pedestrians, the Ohio Highway Patrol said.

The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

FRIDAY NIGHT

LISBON — Darlene Barber, 13, of Wellsville, when she was struck by a car on Columbiana County Road 424.

CINCINNATI — John Kinley, 7, of Cincinnati, struck by a car while crossing a city street.

WARREN — Myra Jane DeMartinis, 26, of Wheatland, Pa., in a three-car accident on Ohio 82 in Trumbull County.

Kissinger sends notes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has sent secret messages to Syria and Israel spelling out their unwritten commitments to each other under the Golan Heights disengagement agreement he negotiated, a Lebanese publication reported today.

The Arab World, a usually well-informed digest of Arab news and opinion, said the commitments covered such issues as Palestinian guerrillas, the status of the buffer zone and satellite reconnaissance. It gave no source for its information.

The report said Syrian President Hafez Assad refused to discuss the Palestinian guerrillas with Kissinger but assured him his government would abide by the cease-fire agreement, and "this was interpreted as an assurance that there will be no guerrilla activity from the Syrian side of the truce line with Syria's advance knowledge."

The Arab World said Israel agreed that the buffer zone between the two opposing armies, though under United Nations military control, will revert completely to Syrian sovereignty.

It takes from 30 to 40 gallons of sap to make one gallon of maple syrup.

Bride-elect Miss Haugen is guest of honor

Miss Teresa L. Haugen, bride-elect of John R. Meriweather, was guest of honor at a luncheon-shower Thursday held at the Washington Country Club. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Mark Schaper, Mrs. John Bath and Mrs. Paul Crosby.

A pink and lavender theme prevailed in decorations. Miss Haugen was presented a corsage by the hostess previous to her opening of the many lovely gifts.

Invited guests were Mrs. LaVerne Haugen, and Mrs. Robert Meriweather, mothers of the couple, Mrs. Charles Pyle and Mrs. Arthur Haugen, the grandmothers, and Mrs. Richard Arnott, Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, Mrs. Robert Harris, Mrs. Philip Binzel, Mrs. George Pommert, Mrs. James Hanawalt, Mrs. Robert Heiny, Mrs. Donald Moore, Mrs. Elmer Reed, Mrs. James O. Garringer, Mrs. Carl Meriweather, Miss Jane Meriweather, Mrs. Jon Ervin, Mrs. Jack Stackhouse, Mrs. Birch Rice, Mrs. H. W. Payton;

Also Mrs. Byers Shaw, Mrs. Ralph Gebhart, Miss Beth Crosby, Mrs. Ben Wright, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Ralph Cook, Mrs. Lawrence Dumford, Mrs. Harold Soldan, Mrs. Ed Vollett, Mrs. Harris Willis, Mrs. Walter Binez, Mrs. Andre Metais, Miss Susan Meriweather, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. John E. Rhodes, Mrs. Charles Cummings of Sabina, and Mrs. Thomas Shafor of Kettering.

Miss Haugen and Mr. Meriweather will be married June 29 in Grace United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Copley WCTU hostess

Mrs. Cloyce Copley, 221 Gardner Ct., extended hospitality to the Washington C.H., Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Friday afternoon.

Meeting was opened with devotions by Mrs Paul Niswander, who read Scripture, and article "Compassion", and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Copley presided when reports were read and approved. It was agreed to send a donation to the Lancaster Camp Ground for electric renovation in the W.C.T.U. cottage, and a donation was made toward a new roof on the headquarters building in Columbus.

Mrs. John Case was devotional leader for the afternoon. Mrs. Henry Simmons read an article on "Alcoholism". Two years ago after the State of Michigan dropped its legal drinking age to 18, accidents involving teenage drinking drivers more than doubled, she said. A survey of drugs among High School students in San Mateo, Calif. showed that teenagers were drinking more.

Mrs. Thomas Willis added that alcohol related problems are the cause of 85,000 deaths in the U.S. each year, 50,000 of those are killed annually in highway accidents each year.

Mrs. Case read that tobacco is one of the leading causes of heart, lung, circulatory diseases, and cancer.

Mrs. Gertrude Ullrich was a guest of the afternoon.

Following the meeting , Mrs. Copley and Mrs. Simmons served a dessert course.

The next meeting, June 28, will be held in the home of Mrs. Ralph Hays.

M-D carnival planned Aug. 17

Any organization or group in Washington C.H. who has been missed in receiving a letter concerning the carnival against Muscular Dystrophy planned for August 17 may contact Miss Sandy Fackler at 335-0131.

Crusaders meet

Christian Crusaders Class, South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall, Saturday evening for the regular monthly meeting. A cafeteria supper was served preceding the meeting and Dr. J.G. Jordan gave the invocation.

Howard Brooks presided at the business session. Existing projects were discussed but tabled until a later meeting, and no new ones were added at this time.

In the absence of Frank Coulter, Mr. Brooks brought devotions entitled: "When everything keeps going from bad to worse." He read from Timothy and Hebrews and closed with prayer.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Margaret Emrick, Mrs. Frank Coulter and Mrs. Isaac Beedy. Hostesses for July 6 meeting will be Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Grant Whiteside and Mrs. John Sparks.

Sorority has smorgasbord

The Phi Theta Gamma Sorority held its final meeting for the year 1973-74 on May 22, 1974 at the home of Mrs. Douglas Grubb. President Chris Campbell called the meeting to order and led the members in the opening ritual.

The Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were read and approved.

Mrs. Campbell announced the committees for the year 1974-75 and additions were made at that time. Discussions about the sorority's socials were held and plans were made for several outings this summer.

A motion was made by Mrs. Grubb and seconded by Mrs. Kenneth Blade that new secret sisters be chosen for the following year and that old secret sisters be revealed.

A request was made by Mrs. James Bennett that all committee meetings be held in June and that the chairmen turn in their reports by July 1st.

After the meeting a refreshment smorgasbord was served to Mrs. Keith Osborne, Mrs. Blade, Miss Renee Satchell, Miss Pam Starr, Mrs. Corliss Hyer, Mrs. Gary Campbell, Mrs. Grubb and son, Marc, and Mrs. Bennett.

The members of the Phi Theta Gamma Sorority honored their mothers by taking them to the Columbus Springfield Dinner Theatre. All enjoyed a lovely dinner after which the actors presented "The Tender Trap". Members and mothers present were Mrs. Doug Grubb and Mrs. Birma Wuest, Mrs. Corliss Hyer, Mrs. Kenneth Blade, Mrs. Gary Campbell and Mrs. Lela Campbell, Miss Renee Satchell and Mrs. Robert Satchell, Miss Charla Butler and Mrs. Herbert Perrill, Mrs. Keith Osborne and Mrs. Beryl Smith, Mrs. David Kelley and Mrs. Ivan Kelley, Mrs. Roger McCoy and Mrs. Dean Barton, and Mrs. Mike McCoy and Mrs. Langdon McCoy.

Perk up dishes with walnuts

WALNUT COFFEE RING — It's made with refrigerated biscuits.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Walnuts do wonders for lots of dishes. A cook who likes to take the easy way and make a coffee ring from refrigerator biscuits can do so with walnuts, butter, sugar and flavorings. This is a delicious coffee cake to serve when friends come for morning, afternoon or evening coffee.

One of the best ways we know to use walnuts is in a cheddar cheese spread made with lots of walnuts, pimiento-stuffed green olives, prepared mustard, horseradish and mayonnaise.

WALNUT COFFEE RING

¼ cup butter or margarine
Two 8-ounce packages refrigerator biscuits (10 in each package)
1-3rd cup sugar
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2-3rds cup large pieces walnuts

In a 10-inch skillet over low heat, melt the butter; remove from heat.

Cut each biscuit into quarters; add these wedges to the skillet and toss to coat with the butter.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the sugar, orange rind and nutmeg; sprinkle over biscuit wedges; add walnuts; toss together. Spoon into a well-buttered 8-inch (6-cup) ring mold.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until browned — 30 to 35 minutes; if top browns too much before end of baking, cover with a sheet of foil. Let stand about 5 minutes at room temperature, then invert on a serving plate and remove mold. Serve warm with sweet butter. If any of the ring is left over in may be wrapped in foil and reheated.

ROBERT WASHTOCK

Kroger names manager for Columbus zone

Harold P. Templeton, vice president of The Kroger Co. Columbus division, has announced the promotion or Robert Washtock to Zone Manager of the Columbus division.

Washtock will have responsibility for 11 Kroger stores in Chillicothe, Jackson, Circleville, Washington C.H., Greenfield, Portsmouth, McArthur, Wellston, and Waverly.

Bob started his career with Kroger in 1962 as a management trainee in the Wisconsin division. After serving as a co-manager, store manager, and personnel assistant in Wisconsin division, he was promoted to Kroger General Office as a training coordinator in July 1966. Bob was assigned personnel manager of the Kansas City division in 1968, then promoted to Houston division as personnel manager, which position he held until he entered the company's zone manager training program.

Bob is married and will be moving with his family to the Columbus division area within a short time.

See tight supplies of steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Demand will keep steel supplies tight despite the industry's capacity plans, Industry Week magazine said today.

"If demand for steel remains anywhere near current levels the tight supply situation will prevail for at least three years, and maybe more," it said.

Industry Week said chief executives of steel firms indicate that there still are more problems than solutions, and not enough money, in making capacity expansion plans.

The magazine also said that the multiplicity of base prices and changes in price extras on steel are forcing steel users to make major shifts in their buying policies.

"Besides having to pay increased base prices, steel users are having to analyze new price extras," it explained. "This poses a monumental problem for steel users whose buying practices and even some of their equipment were set up on the basis of the old pricing of extras."

Buyers are examining each price extra in relation to their steel needs and manufacturing practices to see what is now the most economical buying practice, the magazine continued.

Set record on roller coaster

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Rain showers were more of a problem than queasy stomachs as four teen-aged boys from Ohio and Indiana rode a roller coaster 36 hours during the weekend to establish a world record.

"Our only problem was keeping dry during the rain Friday," said Ralph Rice, 19, of Dayton.

The youths efforts broke by five hours the former mark of 31 hours set in 1968 by six Englishmen.

The record was set at the Kings Island amusement park near Cincinnati. The trip lasted from 10:07 a.m. Friday to 10:07 p.m. Saturday.

Officials said the ride covered a total of 546 miles and 728 laps. The boys agreed to physical examinations before attempting the ride and consumed liquid nutrients during the once-an-hour stops.

Accompanying Rice was Joe Hummer, 18, also of Dayton, and Michael Meir, 16, and Corky Lamb, 17, both of Indianapolis.

Rural schooling below average

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although people are going to school longer than they used to, those in rural areas still are dropping out sooner than their city cousins, the Agriculture Department says.

During the decade of the 1960s, according to the department's Economic Research Service, people generally added about one and a half years to their schooling. Based on 1970 census figures, the median number of years spent going to school for persons 25 or older was slightly more than 12.

That means one-half of the population had more than the median years of schooling and one-half had fewer. But in totally rural counties, researchers found, the median school career lagged the national average by a full two years.

4 injured in 2-car crash

Two cars were demolished and four people injured in a spectacular accident at 11 p.m. Saturday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

A car driven by Arnold R. Lewis, 25, of 1014 Paint St., failed to negotiate a left curve on Ohio 41, seven-tenths of a mile south of Inskeep Road, traveled 34 feet off the road, cut diagonally back across the road for a distance of 93 feet and then traveled another 117 feet on the left berm before colliding with an oncoming car driven by Earl M. Binegar, 42, Jeffersonville.

Binegar had five passengers accompaning him and everyone involved in the accident was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Lewis was taken by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, treated for multiple lacerations of the face and head, abrasions to the right shoulder and examined for a possible head injury. He was admitted and released this morning.

Binegar was taken to the hospital by Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Crooks and Deputy Robert Russell, and was treated for a right elbow injury and released. His four passengers, Jo Ann Binegar, 33, Jeffersonville; Douglas Binegar, 14, Jeffersonville; Theresa Ann Binegar, 8, Jeffersonville; and Ralph Dale Jordan Jr., 13, Jeffersonville, were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service.

Ralph Jordan and Douglas Binegar were examined and released, having no apparent injury; Jo Ann Binegar was treated for an injury to her right knee and examined for a possible head injury and then released; and Teresa Binegar was treated for a laceration to her inside upper lip and released.

A charge of reckless operation is expected to be filed against Lewis, the sheriff's department stated.

OTHER ACCIDENTS over the weekend were as follows:

SHERIFF

FRIDAY, 12:01 a.m. — A motorcycle driven by Darrel Scott Dawson, 19, Auburn, Ala., went off the road on a left curve in Jefferson Township on Ohio 41.

The bike skidded 154 feet in the roadside gravel and flipped over, sliding 38 more feet before coming to rest in a ditch.

Dawson was unhurt in the mishap, but his passenger, Don Bennett, 25, Jeffersonville, suffered abrasions of both arms and complained of pain in his right clavicle. He was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

SATURDAY, 9 p.m. — Minor damage was incurred by a van driven by Donald Page Foxworth Jr., 17, of 703 Church St., and a parked car owned by Mildred Ann Anders, 732 S. North St., in the Roller Haven parking lot, CCC-Highway-W.

SUNDAY, 4 p.m. — A minor parking lot accident involved a car driven by Sandra R. Butler, 34, Jeffersonville and a parked car owned by Dale E. Evans, Jeffersonville, at Andrews Sohio gas station, Jeffersonville.

POLICE

SATURDAY, 11:47 a.m. — An accident occurred between cars driven by Charles R. Moore, 24, of 1236 Rawling St., and Fred L. Coldiron, 71, of 1229 Rawling St., at the intersection of Columbus Avenue and Blackstone Street.

Slight damage was done to both autos and Moore was charged by police with failure to yield right of way.

12:40 p.m. — Cars driven by Herman Lee Williams, 34, of 1106 Clemson Plaza and Walter H. Coil, 61, of 910 Millwood Ave., were severely damaged in an accident on N. North Street, near the Market Street intersection.

Coil had pulled into the Williamson car's path and was cited by police for failure to yield right of way.

SUNDAY, 2:32 p.m. — The brakes failed on a car driven by Carl Gray, 24, of 314½ E. Market St., while he was backing out of a driveway at 728 Eastern Ave.

His car rolled across the street and into a driveway, where it struck a parked car owned by Elsie Haynes, 725 Eastern Ave.

Slight damage was done in the mishap.

Several thefts reported

Merchandise valued at $667 was stolen from Baker Sales and Service over six cases of pop bottles were taken from Stephenson's Market and a Bush Road mailbox and post were stolen, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported today. City Police are investigating the theft of a shopping cart and empty pop bottles from Krogers, and reported a dog bite.

Baker Sales and Service, Jeffersonville, was burglarized sometime between 8 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday, Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Entry to the building was gained by breaking a window unlatching it and crawling through. The thief then stole three chain saws and a battery charger, valued at a total of $667. Investigation is continuing.

Over six cases of empty pop bottles, valued at $14.50, were stolen from the rear of Stephenson's Market, U.S. 22-E and Bogus Road, sometime between 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 8 .M. Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies are seeking the thief.

A mailbox and post owned by Larry Gene Carmans, Bush Road, were taken sometime between 9 a.m. and 12 noon Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported.

A shopping cart valued at $25 and $10 worth of empty pop bottles owned by Krogers, 238 S. Main St., were discovered in high weeds near the railroad tracks by S. North Street, Saturday evening.

City Police are investigating the theft.

Andrew A. Huysman, 13, of 1040 Golfview Rd., was bitten on the left leg by a dog while riding his bicycle in the vicinity of Paint and Lewis Streets at 7:50 p.m. Sunday, police reported.

Huysman was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by a police cruiser, where he was treated and released.

New Sertoma officers attend district meeting

Newly elected officials of the Sertoma Club attended the South Central Ohio District 1974-75 Leadership Conference held Sunday in the L&K Restaurant, Circleville.

Paul Winerbotham, president-elect, and Linley Carson, secretary-treasurer-elect, of the local Sertoma unit, attended.

Thomas P. McGuire of Columbus, district governor-elect spoke to the newly elected officers of the 13 Sertoma Clubs of the district on his theme "The Golden Gate of Service." His challenge was made to the officers that a year from now there will be many new members heard to say that when the membership gates of Sertoma were opened to them, it truly opened the Golden Gates of Service to Mankind.

Carson also attended the secretary's leadership portion of the Conference.

Lawyers push case for Calley

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Attorneys for William L. Calley Jr. present oral arguments today in support of their requests that the government produce testimony heard by Army and congressional committees that investigated the 1968 My Lai massacre.

Briefs already had been filed in U.S. District Court here in support of Calley's efforts to have his court-martial conviction for slaying 22 Vietnamese villagers overturned.

Calley's appeal concerns whether his constitutional rights were violated by military court.

Scenes at WSHS graduation

TOP STUDENTS — Karen Beaver, foreground above, was one of Washington Senior High School's seniors recognized Sunday for having been awarded a grant or scholarship. With all 44 of the pictured award winners planning to continue their formal education, they will be largely responsible for undertaking the tasks outlined by the Rev. Wilbur Bullock, below, the guest speaker. Mr. Bullock, who delivered the scripture reading and class sermon, stated that he hopes the class will take an active part in making this a better world than is being left to their care by his generation.

Seven cities represented at local bridge tourney

Local participants faltered Saturday as pairs from Columbus captured the first two overall places in the Washington C.H. Duplicate Bridge Tournament.

The two-session tournament was won by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Zucker, who tallied 211 matchpoints in the par 168 game. Behind them were Bill Lipton and Dick Rudolph, who had 107.

However, section tops were captured by Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Wright, 505 N. North St.; Dr. Norbert Nissimov and Mrs. Craig Vandermark, of Greenfield, and George Malek, 528 E. Temple St., and Bruno Sestito, of Columbus with the two latter pairs tying for a section top in the evening session.

Mrs. Gay Jackson, Ohio 41-N, and Lloyd VanVliet, of Chillicothe, took section thirds in each of the two sessions, and Mr. an and Mrs. Wright had a section third in the evening to add to their first place in the afternoon.

Sestito and Malek placed third overall, and the Wrights were fifth in the overall scoring.

Filling out the top five finishers were Kelly Dillon and Willard White, both of Columbus, who placed fourth overall.

Thirty pairs participated, eight of them from Washington C.H. Other areas represented were Greenfield, Columbus, Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Sabina, and Springfield, the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Wright, who hosted the game.

The tournament was directed by Nick Herold, of Columbus, who was assisted by caddies Wendy Coil and Diane Jackson, both of Washington C.H.

The tournament was held in the Washington Hotel, and dinner was served in the Washington Inn.

Recognition program honors New Holland eighth graders

NEW HOLLAND — Thirty students were honored Sunday at New Holland Eighth Grade Recognition Night.

Mark Hurtt and Brenda Reinhart were named the top boy and girl student respectively and received awards.

Principal Jean R. Creamer presented medals to class valedictorian Brenda Reinhart, salutatorian Randy Slutz and scholarship medals to Christine Landman, Nancy Wolfe and Terry Thompson.

Recognition also went to David Hennessey as the school's top basketball player.

Band members receiving plaques were Lynn Drake, Rita Minshall, Randy Slutz, Nancy Wolfe, Rhonda Hecoax, Loretta Helsel, Terry Thompson, Kathy Jacobs, Barbara Johnson and Christine Landman.

The band and folk singers presented several numbers.

Students with perfect attendance, student council members, class officers, office workers and cafeteria workers were also recognized.

C of C dinner to be Tuesday

Approximately 250 members and guests will be on hand Tuesday evening when the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce concludes one year under the leadership of President Fred L. Domenico, and begins another under the guidance of President-Elect Bruce Galloway.

Ticket sales have assured a good turnout for the meeting which will be held in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Kline L. Roberts, President of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce will address the meeting. Roberts' topic is "The Excitement of Pride."

The meeting will also recognize outgoing and newly elected Chamber directors, and the winning team in the 1974-75 Membership Drive, which terminates at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon.

County Board to consider routine items

Personnel matters and a number of routine items are on the agenda for this week's Fayette County Board of Education meeting. The board will meet at 8 p.m. in its offices.

The resignations of a cook and a bus driver and the employment of a teacher and a cook are to be considered. The hiring of summer driver education teachers is also scheduled.

Other matters to be considered include authorization of a Title I project, consideration of the disadvantaged pupil program, and authorization of a summer recreation program.

Also to be considered are a request for use of the Jeffersonville school building and requests from teachers to attend professional meetings.

Rollback funds given counties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four Ohio counties will share $1.33 million in first half 1973 reimbursements for granting homestead exemptions to the elderly, state Auditor Joseph Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said the counties got another $26,653 to administer the homestead exemption program.

Hamilton County got $1.18 million for giving elderly homeowners the tax break, while Seneca County got $86,370, Champaign $39,467 and Madison $30,125, he said.

Kennedy tops Ford

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would outpoll Vice President Gerald R. Ford if a presidential election were held now, according to the latest Gallup poll.

In a poll of 1,543 adults May 10-13, 50 per cent preferred Kennedy, 39 per cent favored Ford and 11 per cent were undecided on how they would vote.

Other Gallup surveys conducted this year identified the two men as the top choices of Democratic and Republican voters for the presidential nominations of their parties.

The latest poll followed recent Gallup findings that 24 per cent of American voters identified themselves as Republicans, 42 per cent said they were Democrats and 34 per cent identified themselves as independents.

Fear wave of fascism in Italy

ROME (AP) — The band of uniformed young men pitched their tents deep in the wilderness, chopped wood and cooked on an open fire like weekend campers on a holiday.

But when a police patrol, alerted by an edgy villager, approached the camp in the mountains northeast of Rome last week, it was met by a blistering round of submachine gun fire. The police fired back, killing one youth and capturing two others.

Authorities said they were members of the Mussolini Action Squad, right-wing adventurers named in memory of Italy's Fascist dictator.

Two days before, a bomb was set off during a large antifascist rally in Brescia, a northern industrial city troubled by violence for some months. Seven persons were killed, 100 injured.

To many Italians, such incidents recall the climate of violence and fear which preceded Mussolini's coming to power 50 years ago. They refer to it as a "strategy of tension" aimed at capitalizing on Italy's worst economic crisis since the war to bring another dictator to power.

Right-wing extremist groups are mushrooming, under such names as the New Order, the Black Order, the Year Zero and the National Vanguard. Conservative estimates put their total membership at only 12,000 of Italy's 54 million people, but other sources say it is much higher.

Many members come from families of comfortable means or are sons of low-level state employes, according to police descriptions.

One source said the rightwing terrorists have strong ideas about bringing order to this country of frequent strikes but "some of them are really crazy and have no political ideas."

Italian law is liberal toward such "extraparliamentary" groups. But in a precedent-setting decision last year, a court banned the New Order. It ruled the group was an attempt to reconstruct the Fascist party, outlawed by the postwar constitution.

A Milan prosecutor applied the same law to the leader of the neo-fascist Italian Social Movement, the MSI, the country's fourth largest political party.

The MSI received 2.8 million votes in the 1972 national election, nearly 9 per cent of the total. The party has 82 of the 924 seats in the two houses of Parliament.

Giorgio Almirante, the head of the party, was an official in Mussolini's wartime government. He says he is not ashamed of those days but rejects the fascist label now.

A year ago Parliament stripped Almirante of his immunity as a deputy so he could be charged with reconstructing the Fascist party, but there has been no move yet to bring him to trial.

U.S. pulls last unit from Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The United States today withdrew the last of the 216 military men it sent to Laos 16 months ago, ending a decade of direct military involvement in the Indochinese kingdom's civil war, diplomatic sources reported.

The last of the force of special "military attaches" took a commercial flight to Bangkok, Thailand, the sources said.

The Laotian peace accords specify that all foreign troops are to be out of the country by June 4. The last of more than 17,000 Thai troops pulled out two weeks ago, but military sources say there is no evidence that North Vietnamese has withdrawn any of the estimated 25,000-30,000 troops it has along its supply lines through southeast Laos to the Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Informed sources said the United States probably will continue reconnaissance flights over Laos to keep tabs on North Vietnamese troop movements.

The peace agreements also set Tuesday as the deadline for release of all prisoners of war in Laos, but U.S. sources said it looks "almost certain" that the Pathet Lao will not free American pilot Emmet James Kay.

Kay, 47, a civilian flying for Continental Air Services Inc., is the last American known to be a prisoner in Indochina. He was captured on May 7, 1973.

Walleye runners being sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A State Division of Wildlife official says airplanes and boats are being pressed into an allout effort to halt bootlegging of mercury-tainted walleyes in Lake Erie by hit-and-run fishermen.

The division's chief of law enforcement, Dale E. Roach, said the smugglers are operating like prohibition-era rum-runners.

Parliament sets debate on Ireland

LONDON (AP) — The British Parliament interrupted its spring vacation today for an emergency debate on the future of Northern Ireland amid growing sentiment for British withdrawal from the province after nearly five years of bloodshed.

More than 1,000 persons have died in the war between Northern Ireland's Protestant majority and the Roman Catholic community, outnumbered two to one. The dead include more than 200 British soldiers who tried to restore peace.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called Parliament back into session after a coalition of moderate Protestants and Catholics attempting to govern Northern Ireland was forced to resign. The British government resumed direct rule of the province after a 15-day general strike led by militant Protestants opposed to the sharing of power with the Catholics.

Although there was considerable belief in British political circles before the strike that the moderates in Northern Ireland eventually would win out, many of Wilson's Laborites, some Conservatives and a number of Liberals now reportedly favor setting a date for Britain to get out of Northern Ireland.

The tabloid Daily Mirror, which has a national circulation of more than 4 million, devoted its entire front page today to what it called Britain's gravest crisis since the British-French invasion of Suez in 1956 and to a decision the country must face: Pulling out its troops and abandoning sovereignty over the province.

New political leadership urged

LOS ANGELES(AP)—New political leadership is needed to correct the nation's economic woes, the president of the United Auto Workers union told delegates to the group's 24th constitutional convention.

"The economic management of the country is in palsied hands," Leonard Woodcock said Sunday as he helped open the UAW's week-long gathering.

"As President Nixon stalls impeachment proceeding ... the situation worsens," Woodcock said. He added: "We look to the 1974 elections to correct this situation. We are in trouble in this country because the executive branch has abused its power. We seek to restore a balance of power. We aren't asking for a veto-proof Congress, just one that's responsive."

Mass transit funds virtually untouched

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mass transit woes of many cities have one solution waiting for them in Washington. It's bushels of money—estimated at up to $4 billion—available but virtually untouched for almost a year.

All it takes is willingness by state and local governments to make a choice between roads, cars that use them and the fuel they use against energy-saving mass transit.

Last August, Congress passed and President Nixon signed into law a bill freeing billions of dollars from the federal highway trust fund to be used for public transportation, such as buying buses or railcars, or other capital expenses.

Yet, only one state has taken advantage of the law and one other has an application on file with the federal government.

Massachusetts on Thursday received $671 million for use for public mass transit in the Boston area and for a section of highway in the southeastern part of the state. Pennsylvania has filed an application for the Philadelphia area, which could yield about $165 million.

A spokesman for the Urban Mass Transit Administration of the Transportation Department said more states have not taken advantage of the law because cities view public transportation not as a service but as a burden. A spokesman for DOT's Federal Highway Administration said there is about $4 billion available for public mass transit that cities have not sought.

Asked if there were liabilities in requesting the money, the UMTA spokesman said, "Disadvantages? No, not that I can think of, if a state has done its research."

Money received under the act would not cut back on other federal transportation-related funds going to the state, she said.

Massachusetts decided it would be of more benefit to have the money that would have been spent on one section of Interstate highway—a beltway stretch around Boston— transferred for expenditure on public mass transportation needs.

If states opt for the transportation, it can only be publicly owned mass transit, and the money comes from Washington after the federal government is convinced the stretch of highway is not vital to the national Interstate system; that the state and local government have a viable transit plan accompanied by reports on environmental impact, civil rights and so on.

Veteran cultivates marijuana garden

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Kenneth Kays is not your government-issue hero. His victory garden is full of marijuana, and he is determined to keep it as a symbol of his freedom.

Kays, 24, won the Medal of Honor and was honored at the White House for his heroism in Vietnam.

A draft resister-turned-medic, Kays lost a leg in battle in May 1970 but repeatedly crawled past his lines to rescue and treat wounded comrades.

Today his battleground is a 1,000 square-foot patch near his trailer in this southern Illinois town where he farms the illegal marijuana plants for his own personal use.

With practiced ease, he swings down the rows on his artificial leg hoeing, raking and tilling. A headband secures his long, sun-tinted hair which cascades into his beard.

Kays was raised in Fairfield, population 6,000, and attended Southern Illinois University. He was discharged from the Army in 1970, and has been living here on disability checks since.

What he did in Vietnam and what he is doing now are part of the same personal quest for freedom and what is just, even if it conflicts with the law, Kays said.

Kays resisted going into military service. When his induction notice came, he left for Canada. But, unsure he was doing the right thing, he reported 31 days late and volunteered to be a medic.

The medal he earned has no value of itself, only the experience it represents, and has often been a source of trouble, he said, brings him unwanted attention and praise.

Kays, arrested twice and convicted once for possession and cultivation of marijuana, was sentenced to one year's probation.

Two weeks after his first arrest, the sheriff discovered Kays was still growing marijuana and arrested him again. The prosecutor is seeking to revoke probation.

"I don't wish to fight, but I'm not going to quit," he said. "I will trust to the courts to see that justice is done.

Reds prepare for invasion of New York

Cincinnati routs Pittsburgh, 5-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sunday was Pete Rose Poster Day in Cincinnati and a roaring crowd of 38,000 turned out to cheer for their home-grown hero. But today's the day the Cincinnati Reds superstar has not been waiting for.

Rose and the Reds return to New York Shea Stadium—site of last October's mini-war.

The welcome mat is not expected to be out.

Rose says he's become baseball's "most booed Most Valuable Player" since his fistswinging affair with Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson triggered a mad melee in the National League playoffs last fall.

The Reds head to New York with eight victories in their last nine games, with a three-game sweep of the Mets included in the resurgence.

Sunday, Cincinnati rode the pitching of Fred Norman and Pedro Borbon to a 5-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The triumph came a day after the Bucs had humbled the Reds 14-1, snapping a seven-game winning streak.

But the victory may have been costly. Norman, who sports the best earned run average among the five-man starting staff, suffered a pulled rib cage muscle. His status is cloudy, according to a Reds physician.

Norman yielded only two hits in 6 2-3 innings, before the muscle pull forced him off the mound.

"You don't like to come out of a game with a two-hitter, but I just couldn't go any further," he said. "From the fourth inning on it kept getting a little worse."

Meanwhile, he was getting support from Tony Perez, who slammed his 100th home run in Cincinnati, and Dave Concepcion who drilled three hits.

Borbon came on to nail down the victory for Norman, now 5-5. Bruce Kison, 2-3, took the loss.

The Reds send newcomer Clay Kirby, 3-3, against Jon Matlack, 5-2, in tonight's series opener.

It was Matlack's 5-0 two-hitter against Cincinnati in the second game of the playoffs that ignited a word war between Rose and Harrelson.

Harrelson wondered aloud if the Reds weren't "swinging from their heels." Rose countered with a suggestion that Harrelson save his batting tips for his teammates.

The Battle of Shea erupted the next day when Rose barreled into Harrelson at second base attempting to break up a double play. More words flew. And then fists.

When the dust cleared, Rose was met by an outpouring of anger from Mets fans, who blitzed the Reds star with obscenities and objects.

The same reaction has continued at other National League stops this season.

Last week, Harrelson said he hoped it would end. "I wish the fans would get off his back. I can't understand why those other cities are involved. This thing is none of their business," he said.

Prep sweep predicted for southwest teams

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Blunt-speaking Howard Converse predicted a Southwestern Ohio sweep today of the 1974 state high school baseball championships.

"We should win all three classes. The best baseball is played in our area," Converse crowed Saturday after coaching Cincinnati Princeton to a 10-3 romp over Lima Senior in a Class AAA semifinal game.

Cincinnati Reading in Class AA, bidding for a fifth state baseball crown, and 1973 football playoff king Middletown Fenwick in Class A were the other Southwestern Ohio hopefuls in the finals at Ohio State University.

Princeton, 29-13, tried to succeed Cincinnati Elder as the big school champion. The Vikings faced Wickliffe, 17-8, for the Class AAA championship.

Reading, the titleholder in 1942-44-46-57, matched its 31-4 record against Wooster Triway's 21-4 mark for the Class AA crown, succeeding St. Paris Graham.

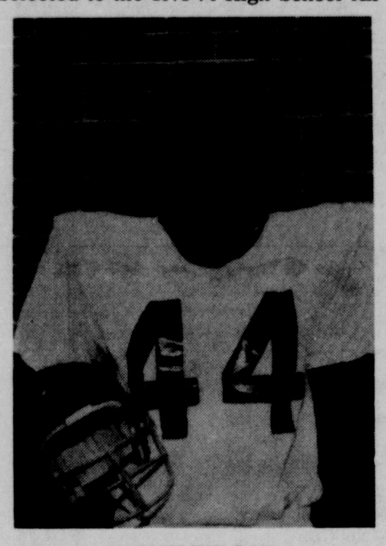

Fenwick, victor 28 times in 31 games this season, took on Carroll, 19-6, of Fairfield County for the Class A laurels. Portsmouth East won last year's small school crown.

Princeton posted the most one-sided verdict in the semifinals, sending 10 men to the plate in a six-run fourth inning against 1964 champion Lima Senior, out with a 16-4 record.

Meanwhile, stylish southpaw Steve Nagel scattered eight Lima hits to register his 13th pitching victory this season.

Wilson selected for prep honors

Scouting Systems of America has announced that Chuck Wilson has been selected to the 1973-74 High School All America Football Team.

CHUCK WILSON

Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilson, 526 Delaware St., was a two-way starter for Washington Senior High's football team for three years. In those three years, Wilson accumulated a total of nine records.

His records include longest punt return of 76 yards, 39 carries in one game, 269 yards rushing in one game, 279 carries in one season, 1,531 yards rushing in one season, 6.46 yards per carry in one season, 3,167 yards rushing in his career, 189 points in one season and career total offense leader with 3,467 yards.

During the past season, Wilson was a first team selection in the South Central Ohio League, Southeastern Ohio Class AA Back of the Year, first team All-Ohio and Associated Press Back of the Year. He also received honorable mention in Prep All-American.

Buzz Capra stings Expos in Braves' 9-0 shutout

By The Associated Press

The "long man" is the guy in the bullpen who can be counted on to pitch five or six solid innings of relief.

To Buzz Capra, "long" meant about two years.

The New York Mets' castoff and refugee from the bullpen, who's been trying for that long to show he really is a starter, is achieving his goal.

On Sunday, though, he had to work to prove it. He gave up 10 Montreal hits—but none of the base-runners managed to get back where they started—home plate.

So, backed by a 16-hit Atlanta assault, the Braves' right-hander coasted, in a manner of speaking, to a 9-0 rout over the Expos.

In Sunday's other National League games, the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 7-6, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 5-1, Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 4-3 and St. Louis outlasted San Diego 9-6. The Mets' game against Houston was rained out.

The Braves picked Capra up in a straight cash deal. So far, he's been a bargain.

Braves manager Eddie Mathews started using him when starter Ron Reed was injured facing San Diego May 15. Capra came on and, with some late help, picked up a shutout victory.

And he's been coming on strong as a starter since then, four-hitting the Dodgers May 19, shutting out Houston on three hits May 24, pitching nine innings of three-hit ball in the Braves' 10-inning 2-1 victory over Philadelphia last Tuesday night, then blanking the Expos.

Cubs 7, Dodgers 6

Mike Marshall, making his 34th appearance of the season, walked Jerry Morales and Billy Williams in the seventh inning, then Jose Cardenal drove his fourth homer of the season into the left field bleachers, putting Chicago in front 6-4. Then Rick Monday doubled and scored what proved to be the winning run on a single by Carmen Fanzone.

Phils 4, Giants 3

Greg Luzinski crashed a two-runn homer, capping a four-run eighth inning that powered the Phils past the Giants.

Cards 9, Padres 6

Ted Sizemore drew a basesloaded walk to force home St. Louis' tie-breaking run and Reggie Smith's singled home two more in the four-run eighth that saddled the Padres with their ninth straight loss.

Menne captures Kemper Open

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — He'd often considered quitting. He'd won less than $30,000 in 3½ years. Car trouble coming into Charlotte had just about busted him. He was down to gas money to the next stop. His wife was cooking hamburgers in the motel room.

And, with that background and that pressure, longshot Bob Menne birdied the final hole of regulation play to gain a tie and then scored from 30 feet on the first hole of sudden death to win the $50,000 first prize in the Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"It means everything to me," the curly-haired man from Massachusetts said after his dramatic triumph Sunday. "It means the Masters and the Tournament of Champions. And it means money.

"Golly, $50,000."

Menne, 32, a struggler throughout his six-year tour career, whipped an iron shot to within six feet of the cup for the birdie on the 72nd hole that caught front-running Jerry Heard, then defeated the easygoing guy with the dramatic birdie putt on the first playoff hole.

"If I have to lose," said Heard, "I'm glad it's to Bob. He needs the money. I'm glad it's him and not somebody like (Jack) Nicklaus that's got more money than he'll ever need."

And Nicklaus and all the other great names in the game were in the field. They had to be. The tournament, which offered $250,000 in total prizes, is one of three designated tournaments on the schedule, tournaments in which the game's leading players are required to play.

Menne had to win his way into the field by qualifying in an 18-hole round on Monday.

He won it with a final round of 67 and a total of 270, 18 under par on the 7,085-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course. Heard matched that total with a last-round 70.

Dave Hill just missed the playoff by a single stroke at 271. He bolted into contention on the strength of a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 in the last round. Lee Trevino, also in contention until the last nine holes, had a 69—272.

Billy Casper and J.C. Snead, each with a 69, were at 273. The other big guns were strung out further back.

Jack Nicklaus had 70—278. Johnny Miller was 70—280. Gary Player scored 72—286. Arnold Palmer und Tom Weiskopf started but didn't qualify for the final two rounds.

Good Hope takes opener with 9-4 win

Good Hope's Little League squad opened its season with a 9-4 victory over New Holland on the loser's diamond.

Steve Grooms paced the hitting attack for the winners with three hits. Jimmy Perrill, Scott Grooms and Randy Boyer each contributed two hits each. Larry Cline was the winning pitcher, as he needed relief help from Scott Grooms.

Horney smashed a home run for New Holland. Blanton was tagged with the loss.

Two Little League teams handed first season losses

Downtown Drug and the Jets each suffered their first loss of the season in the Washington Little League, as Levi Boys stopped Downtown Drug 8-2 and Rotary Wheels conquered the Jets 7-1, Saturday afternoon.

Levi Boys pounded out 11 hits in their victory, as Todd Warnecke's double was the only extra base hit of the contest. In picking up the victory, Charle Wheeler struck out nine and walked one, while yielding five hits.

Brian Dodds hurled a four-hitter for the Wheels. He struck out 11 batters and walked four in the contest. William Pressler double for the winners.

In the only Minor League contest, Roller Haven blasted Helfrich's 16-7. Ronald Murnahan led the winners' attack by belting a triple and a home run.

Rain stops golf tourney

Whitworth says a rain-shortened golf tournament leaves "an unfinished feeling," but Sunday's storm didn't dampen the spirits of Judy Rankin.

"A win is a win," said Mrs. Rankin, who pocketed a check for $5,700 after officials of the Baltimore Golf Championship canceled the final round and declared her the winner with a two-under par 144 for 36 holes.

Mrs. Rankin conceded that it "takes a little off by sort of backing in," but noted she had played well in the first two rounds except for consecutive bogies on the 13th, 14th and 15th holes in Saturday's second round.

Before faltering, Mrs. Rankin held a four-stroke lead and was threatening to make a runaway of the $40,000 tournament.

Colonial Stair wins tourney

Colonial Stair won the Drakes double-elimination softball tournament in Blanchester over the past weekend. During the tournament, Colonial Stair played seven games and registered victories in six of them.

Ruhlman of Cincinnati handed Colonial Stair its only loss, 9-6, in the finals. Therefore, since it was Colonial Stair's first loss of the tourney, the two teams met again with Colonial Stair winning 4-3.

In a low-scoring tournament, Colonial Stair out-hit its opponents 75-70 and had 48 runs in comparison to 34 for the opponents.

Top hitters for the winners included Sid Woodrow, who batted .643, Steve Dawson with a .583 average and Jim Kramer with a .526 average.

Light records second ace

Burnham Light recorded the second hole-in-one of the season at the Washington Country Club, Saturday afternoon.

Light aced the eighth hole, which is 140 yards, with a five iron on his second round. It was the first hole-in-one ever for Light, who is a member of the board of directors at the Washington Country Club. He was playing with Richard Lewis, Donald Crabtree and Howard Burnett.

Jim Wightman turned in the first ace of the season on May 14.

Evert wins tennis open

ROME (AP) — It wasn't her richest victory, but Chris Evert was really happy she had finally won a major international tennis tournament.

Miss Evert, 19, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat 17-year-old Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-3 Sunday in the final of the women's singles at the Rome Tennis Open.

Miss Evert plays in the French Open later this week. She was a finalist there last year, as she was in Rome and Wimbledon.

The women's top prize in Rome was $5,000. Miss Evert has won much more in other tournaments.

"It's not just the money, it's the prestige", she said. "That's why I want to win in Paris, too."

American League roundup

Athletics continue flurry in West

By The Associated Press

The Oakland A's are still mad at the world ... and the rest of the American League's West Division isn't laughing much, either.

The A's, who seem to play best when they're sore about something, had a couple of gripes as they ran their winning streak to four games and 17 of 23 with Sunday' 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The two-time world champs are starting to put some daylight between themselves and the rest of the division. After the victory over the Brewers, the A's have a 3½-game bulge over the second-place Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Texas Rangers 6-5 in 10 innings, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Chicago White Sox 9-7, the Cleveland Indians trimmed Kansas City 5-2, the New York Yankees pounded the Minnesota Twins 11-1 and the Detroit Tigers shaded the California Angels 2-0.

Winning pitcher Catfish Hunter was angry about being lifted. And some A's were upset by a post-game player move that saw backup first baseman Pat Bourque sent to the minors.

Hunter checked the Brewers on seven hits, including Bob Coluccio's second-inning homer, before giving way to Rollie Fingers after two-out singles by George Scott and Darrell Porter in the eighth inning. Bob Hansen greeted the reliever with a run-scoring single.

Bourque, hitting a solid .286, was farmed out to make room for light-hitting infielder Dal Maxvill, reactivated from the disabled list.

Oakland's key hitting was done by Reggie Jackson, who slammed his 14th and 15th home runs, and Joe Rudi, who cracked a three-run shot.

Orioles 6, Rangers 5

Rich Coggins singled home pinch runner Al Bumbry with two out in the 10th inning, giving rookie Wayne Garland his first major league triumph with 5 2-3 innings of two-hits relief.

Red Sox 9, White Sox 7

Rico Petrocelli drilled a pair of two-run homers, one of them capping a five-run third inning. The victory was the 11th in the last 14 games for the Red Sox and gave them a 1½-game lead over Milwaukee in the American League East.

Indians 5, Royals 2

Solo homers by Leron Lee, Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan boosted Gaylord Perry and the Indians over Kansas City.

Yankees 11, Twins 1

Home runs by Lou Piniella, Rick Dempsey and Ron Blomberg sparked a seven-run sixth inning that helped Mel Stottlemyre snap a personal five-game losing streak and post his first victory since April 30.

Tigers 2, Angels 0

Norm Cash broke up a scoreless duel with an eighth-inning home run and Woodie Fryman and John Hiller blanked California on four hits.

Walther dies in boat mishap

MIAMI (AP) — The day before George "Skipp" Walther died, he foresaw no problem in adjusting to a racing boat larger than any he ever had driven.

"You have to run 140, 150 miles an hour in the five-litre boats to be competitive," he said. "You can't do much better than that in an unlimited here."

At 150 m.p.h. Sunday, the Red Man hydroplane Walther was driving in a trial run around the tight-turned Miami Marine Stadium bounced out of control, its 6,500 pounds turning over onto him.

He was declared dead less than a half hour later, having suffered massive skull fractures and brain injuries. His right arm was severed at the elbow.

Walther's wife Sandy, pregnant with the couple's first child, saw her husband's spill from the pits. She was treated for shock after accompanying Walther to the hospital where he died.

Walther, 27, was supposed to be driving his own boat in the $30,000 unlimited regatta. But a delay in its completion and an injury to Red Man owner Jim McCormick earlier in the week changed that.

Walther's father George N. Walther Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, has raced hydroplanes for years. His brother Dave "Salt" Walther was severely burned in a spectacular crash at the Indianapolis 500 last year. Salt, who also pilots hydroplanes, made a comeback this year, finishing 17th at Indy.

British Amateur golf championship opens

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — A field of nearly 250 golfers was to begin play today, aiming to beat America's defending titleholder Dick Siderowf in the British Amateur Golf Championship.

Siderowf, of Westport, Conn., hoping to become only the second American to win this coveted prize two years in a row, was matched against little-know Irish Perry Malone in the first round.

Memphis Blues pounds Charleston, 5-2, 7-0

By The Associated Press

The Memphis Blues pounded the Charleston Charlies 5-2 and 7-0 Sunday to sweep their fourgame International League series.

The wins improved the Blues' lead to three games over Richmond in the IL's South Division.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3♠	Pass	4♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Some hands played in the annual world championship prove to be downright embarrassing to the participants.

For example, consider this deal played in 1973 in the match between the Dallas Aces, who were the defending champions, and another U.S. team consisting of Paul Soloway, John Swanson, Jeff Rubens, Andy Bernstein and the father-son combination of B. Jay and Mike Becker.

When Soloway and Swanson were North-South, they got to four spades in the manner shown, easily making seven!

When Wolff and Hamman of the Aces held the North-South cards, they bid the hand exactly the same way and also made seven!

There was no strong feeling at the time that either North player had done anything particularly wrong by raising three spades to four, although the odds in favor of making seven were about 3 to 1.

The Italian team, when they played the same hand against Indonesia, managed to reach the grand slam. With Garozzo North and Belladonna South, the bidding went:

South	West	North	East
3♠	Pass	4♣	Pass
4♦	Dble	Pass	Pass
Redble	Pass	5 NT	Pass
7♠

Four clubs was a cuebid inferentially accepting spades as trumps and, at the same time, requesting South to pinpoint his hand further.

Four diamonds was also a cuebid, showing diamond control. The subsequent redouble by South confirmed first-round diamond control.

Five notrump was the grand slam force, asking South to bid seven spades if he had two of the three top trump honors. So Belladonna bid seven, which he made, and the Italians thus provided another dramatic example of their over-all excellence in the field of slam bidding.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Kidney Stone Attacks

I have had two kidney stone attacks. Does this mean that I can anticipate more attacks? The pain is so bad that I live in constant dread that it will happen again.

— Mr. T.H., Calif.

Dear Mr. H.:

Anyone who has ever experienced an attack of kidney stones can appreciate the intensity of that pain. Doctors who treat such conditions feel, too, that there are few less distressing types of pain.

The fact that you have had two attacks of stones in the kidney or in the ureters does not mean that you will have a chronic susceptibility to stone formation.

It does, however, mean that the basic cause for the formation of the stones must be eliminated if you are to be free of concern.

Infections, inflammation and irritation are responsible for the deposit of calcium, which is the beginning of a stone.

Some stones contain uric acid and are related to a gouty tendency. This can be controlled by diet and drugs.

There are now many extensive tests by which the entire urinary tract can be studied. Special dyes, X-ravs. studies of the blood and the urine can help pinpoint the exact reason for stone formation.

Only in this way can you be freed from anxiety.

* * *

My wife says she has a "nervous stomach." Is there such a condition?

— Mr. E.B.L., Ohio

Dear Mr. L.:

The term is often used by the laity as a description of a wide variety of intestinal complaints.

It does not have any medical significance. The stomach is said to be a very sympathetic neighbor, and quickly reacts to conditions in nearby organs. This might include disorders of the intestines, the liver or the gall bladder.

"Nervous stomach" may therefore have many physical and emotional causes.

The only way to be relieved, of course, is to carefully evaluate the nature of the complaint and follow through with the many available studies.

May's rainfall figures increase actual averages

A stormy month of May deposited more than five inches of rain on Washington C. H., according to the monthly report prepared by Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer in Washington C. H.

The precipitation total for the 31-day period at Stookey's recording station, 134 E. Ohio Ave., was a soaky 5.62 inches, 1.81 inches above the over-the-years May average of 3.81 inches.

May rainfall brought the total precipitation for the first third of the year to 16.80 inches, a 1974 deficiency of .81 of an inch when compared with an average of 17.61 inches for the first five months of the year.

The May precipitation total last year was 4.55 inches, Stookey's records disclose.

Minimum daily temperatures for the past month ranged from a low of 31 on May 7 to a high of 66 on May 17. Maximum daily temperatures ranged from a low of 56 on three dates to a high of 87 on May 17.

There was precipitation on 14 of May's 31 days, ranging from a trace on May 4 to a soaking 1.45 inches on May 18.

Here are the actual Washington C. H. precipitation figures for the year to date as compared with the established averages:

	Act.	Avg.
January	2.94	3.38
February	1.99	2.44
March	3.31	3.99
April	2.91	3.99
May	5.62	3.81
Totals	16.80	17.61

Mayor Daley has operation

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley is in good condition after undergoing surgery to remove fatty deposits in an artery on the left side of his neck.

Dr. Hushang Javid and two assistants performed the 90-minute operation Sunday at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center. It was designed to prevent a major stroke from occurring, a Daley spokesman said.

Daley, 72, had a minor stroke May 6 and was hospitalized for 12 days. He was expected to stay in the hospital several days.

Firemen make 2 runs Sunday

An electrical short in an automatic dishwasher motor and a dropped cigarette were responsible for two fires Sunday, the Washington C.H. Fire Department reported.

The short in the electric dishwasher motor developed at 2:13 p.m., at the Donald Crabtree residence, 213 River Rd.

Firemen at the scene reported $50 damage to the dishwasher and minor smoke damage to the inside of the Crabtree house.

The other fire started when a cigarette was dropped on the floormat of a car owned by Dale Cowman, 720 John St., at 9:12 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen were dispatched to the corner of Dayton Avenue and Jupiter Street, where the incident occurred, and reported $20 damage to the floor of the car.

Fatal British blast being investigated

FLIXBOROUGH, England (AP) — The British government today ordered a major inquiry into the Nypro chemical plant explosion that killed 29 persons and injured 105, according to latest official reports.

All the reported dead were workers at the factory in rural eastern England, but only eight bodies had been recovered by Sunday night because fires still raged over more than 20 acres of the plant site.

Damage from the explosion Saturday exceeded $140 million. The chemical plant and about 100 homes in nearby villages were ruined—their roofs blown off, windows and walls shattered.

Announcing the government inquiry, Environment Undersecretary Gordon Oakes said: "Surely dangerous processes and homes must be kept well apart." Leading newspapers speculated that government controls over chemical plants are inadequate, and one paper said the government's chief inspector of factories, Brian Harvey, told it scientists are creating technologies they do not understand fully.

Flixborough, a village of 310 persons 150 miles north of London, was declared a disaster area. The Rev. Ken O'Riordan, a Roman Catholic priest, walked the blackened streets sobbing: "This is terrible, terrible. There is nothing I can do but pray."

At the height of the blaze Saturday night, an estimated 20,000 persons living in the surrounding Lincolnshire villages and fields were evacuated to shelters set up in schools and churches because of poisonous fumes. Housewives wept as they returned to their ruined or damaged homes Sunday.

The jobs of 30,000 nylon workers in northeast England were jeopardized by the Flixborough explosion and fire. Nypro was Britain's only factory producing caprolactum, used to strengthen nylon for heavy industrial use. The plant was owned by British and Dutch interests.

The cause of the blast is still not known, but authorities said they believed it to be accidental.

Auglaize County judge selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jacob J. Boesel of St. Marys was appointed judge today of the Auglaize County Court, West District.

Boesel was named by Gov. John J. Gilligan to succeed Judge Gregory D. Wilson, who resigned.

Boesel, 56, is a native of Wapakoneta and a graduate of the University of Michigan law school.

Two seats remain vacant on Milledgeville Council

MILLEDGEVILLE—The Village Council didn't get its two vacant seats filled, but it came close when Mrs. Wahneta Haffner said after the meeting Saturday afternoon that she was willing to take one of them. She will be installed at next meeting if she doesn't change her mind.

As for the other vacancy, Mayor Ronald Anderson said "we don't have anyone in mind right now" and then added "maybe we'll have to call for volunteers. . .Someone who'll take the job."

The vacancies were the result of the resignations of Wilbur Anders Jr. and Dan Caldwell in April.

Although the Council is anxious to fill the vacant seats it took action Saturday to clamp down on owners of unlicensed "junk" cars left on the village streets and public alleys.

At the first meeting in May, Council adopted a resolution, which gave "junk" car owners 30 days to get them out of sight. Mayor Anderson told Council Saturday that 20 of these "eyesores" had been located in the village last week and that at least two others had been towed away. When the cars which were towed away were not claimed, they went to the junkyard. After this discussion, Council agreed that owners of unlicensed "junk" cars left on the street or alleys would be cited into court for violation of the village's "junk car" ordinance.

Still pushing its campaign for a cleaner, neater village, Council agreed to reopen its case against L. J. Hill, of Columbus if necessary to get a cleanup of the property where the elevator was destroyed by fire about three years ago. After the case was taken to Municipal Court here about a year ago, much of the debris was cleaned up, but Council wants the job finished and will take its complaints back to court if necessary, Mayor Anderson said.

Council agreed that the town should be given a mosquito-fogging within the next couple of weeks. Residents will be notified in advance, so they can close their home if they like, the mayor said.

Anticancer drugs eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government cancer fighters plan to explore a possibility that some of the life-saving anticancer drugs may provide a kind of double-barreled control over malignancy.

New-found tentative evidence indicates that one such drug may sharply reduce any risk of a second, unrelated cancer developing years later as a result of a patient's initial treatment.

The new, still-unsubstantiated evidence was reported recently by Dr. Giulio J. D'Angio of New York's Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases at a conference sponsored by the American Cancer Society at Dallas, Tex. He identified the drug as Actinomycin-D, an antibiotic.

Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod of the National Cancer Institute said the institute plans to explore this evidence.

During the past year, they and others have voiced suspicions that some still-unidentified components of highly-successful drug and-or radiation treatment for certain cancers might cause unrelated second cancers in some patients, primarily children, years later.

Dr. Zubrod, director of the division of cancer treatment at NCI, said a new dimension appears opened up for research—based on the possibility suggested by Dr. D'Angio's report, that certain drugs in the arsenal of the cancer fighters might actually provide some strong built-in insurance against production of such subsequent malignancies.

"That is," he said, "some drugs may diminish the possible risk while others may enhance it, especially when such drugs are combined with radiation." He said researchers now know that radiation sometimes can cause second cancers unrelated to the one originally controlled, and that the task at hand involves identifying the safest and most dangerous drugs and modifying treatments.

Red gunners hit Bien Hoa base

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Communist gunners attacked the Bien Hoa air base today for the first time in seven months, killing 42 Vietnamese and wounding 82, police officials reported. Many of the casualties were caught by a direct hit on a prison camp.

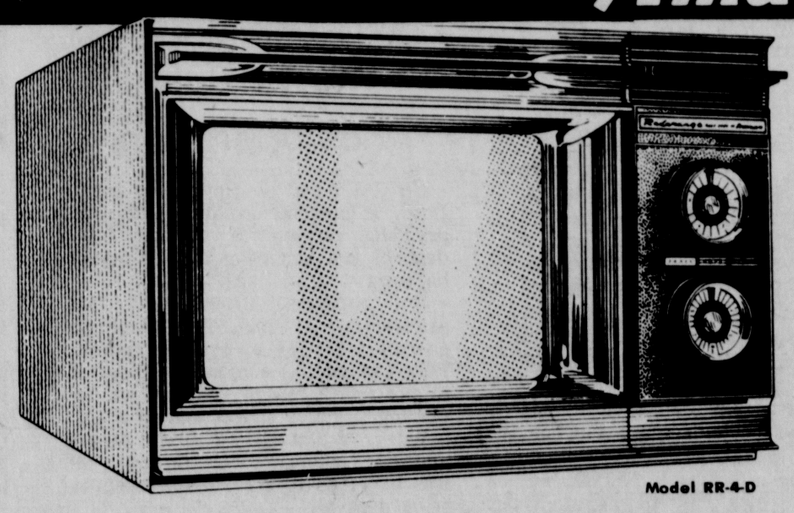

Thirty rockets struck the sprawling air base and five surrounding villages 15 miles northeast of Saigon before dawn, the police said.

One of the 122mm rockets tore through the roof of a building inside the Tan Hiep Correctional Center, riddling more than 100 sleeping prisoners with shrapnel, Associated Press photographer Dan Van Phuoc reported.

The longest game of tiddly-winks was played in 1970 by eight Chicago students. The game lasted more than 120 hours.

Graduation marks beginning, not end, seniors are warned

Story and photos
By GEORGE MALEK

In his final act as a member of the Washington Senior High School faculty, Commander Robert L. Self led the Junior Naval ROTC Unit in the presentation of colors prior to the start of the graduation exercises for 157 Washington Senior High School seniors Sunday.

The program at Gardner Park was initiated by the processional played by the high school band, under the direction of Charles L. Shaffer.

After the Rev. Gerald Wheat offered the invocation, the Rev. Wilbur Bullock delivered the scripture reading and class sermon.

In the sermon, the Rev. Mr. Bullock stressed that the world "commencement" is very appropo for graduation exercises. Graduation is not the end of learning, but rather the beginning of the opportunity to utilize what has been learned in the past and will be learned in the future, he said.

The challenge of the "Class of 74" is to "make the world a better place to live than my generation has done," he said. "You are now in a position to shape the world in which you and your children will live," he said.

CLASS PRESIDENT Donald Wheat continued the same theme when he addressed those in attendance. In essence he said that the time for complaining was over and the time for action was at hand. Until now, he said, he and his friends had been given a world in which to live. Now it is theirs to improve or destroy, he said.

Keith Stimpert, valedectorian, also addressed the class. His approach was slightly different as he warned his classmates not to become so caught up in "knee deep philosophy" to lose sight of their obligation to live each day to its fullest.

Suggesting an ideal means of preparing for the future, without giving up the richness of the moment, Stimpert read "Desiderata," which was written in a letter to a troubled friend by a nun in the 1600's. The moving prose work was recently provided with a musical background to become a popular recording.

Principal Fred A. Jones presented the class to Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of the city schools, who spoke briefly to the class. He then introduced James Wilson and Walter Bienz, president and vice president, respectively, of the Washington C.H. Board of Education, who presented the class with their diplomas. Jones called the names of the new graduates.

MEMBERS OF the National Honor Society were called prior to the rest of the class. They were Keith Stimpert, Salutatorian Jill Willis, Bob Walters, David Ellis, Pam Stritenberger, Donald Wheat, Steve Pommert.

David Rittenhouse, Mel Wilkins, Ima Darling, Karen Beaver, Teri Mount, Lisa Smith, Kathy Entrekin, Cindy Fields, Jo Jordan, Brent Thompson, Mary Jo Burris;

More impeachment evidence sought

Panel turns to ITT probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee turns its attention this week to the ITT antitrust settlement, confident there's plenty to look at despite the special prosecutor's announcement absolving corporate officials of wrongdoing in the case.

"Our inquiry is completely independent of that," said Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., when asked about the effect of the prosecutor's finding.

John Doar, chief counsel for the impeachment inquiry, said that, "unless you start with the premise that every allegation is true, I don't think it yanks the rug out from under us."

Meanwhile, a committee member, Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., predicted Nixon would be impeached and tried in the Senate. Waldie appeared Sunday on the CBS program "Face the Nation," with fellow committee member Lawrence Hogan, R-Md.

Hogan did not agree with Waldie that Nixon would be impeached for obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up, but said that if impeachment does come "it will come in the areas related to Watergate."

On the West coast, six governors interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" said evidence sought by the committee should be released by Nixon. The six, attending the National Governor's Conference in Seattle, were Democrats Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Daniel Walker of Illinois, Wendell Anderson of Minnesota and Wendell Ford of Kentucky, and Republicans Tom McCall of Oregon and Daniel J. Evans of Washington.

Carter and McCall also said failure of Nixon to give up the evidence should be ground for removing him from office.

In the ITT phase of the impeachment inquiry, the committee is investigating the allegation that an antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation was settled in return for a pledge of financial help toward the cost of conducting the 1972 Republican National Convention in San Diego. In addition, it is alleged that perjury may have been committed by several administration officials during the Senate hearings on the nomination of Richard Kleindienst as attorney general. Last Thursday, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, in a letter to Rep. J. J. Pickle of Texas, ranking Democrat on the investigations subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee, said that part of the investigation relating to allegations of federal criminal offenses by ITT executives related to settlement of the antitrust cases "has failed to disclose the commission of any such violations ...."

"We were never pursuing that aspect," said Albert Jenner, minority counsel for the impeachment inquiry. Jenner indicated that the inquiry has focused primarily on whether President Nixon was aware of possible false statements by administration officials at the Kleindienst confirmation hearings.

Kleindienst pleaded guilty May 16 to a misdemeanor charge of refusing to answer fully and accurately questions from a Senate committee. Three members of the prosecutor's staff resigned in protest because they believed Kleindienst should have faced a more serious charge.

In a letter to James D. St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, Doar asked for tapes of 20 conversations that took place during the Kleindienst confirmation hearings.

St. Clair has told the committee the President has agreed only to turn over a transcript of one conversation. That one was with Mitchell and H. R. Haldeman on April 4, 1972.

Doar had said in his letter that he sought the tapes to determine whether the President or his aides took part in or had knowledge of "a plan or course of action, if any, which was designed to or did withhold from the Senate Judiciary Committee during the course of said hearings evidence to which it was entitled or to keep from the committee facts relevant to its inquiry."

In other Watergate-related developments:

—Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said Nixon was frustrating the impeachment process by threatening to make it "nothing more than an empty gesture, subject to executive veto." His comments were contained in remarks to be delivered on the Senate floor today.

Flurry of primaries set Tuesday

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer

The year's biggest flurry of primary elections hits eight states Tuesday when voters choose nominees to succeed retiring governors in California and New Mexico and a U.S. senator in Iowa.

Also at stake are nominations for senator and governor in South Dakota, a Senate seat in California, the governorship of Iowa and 76 U.S. House seats in the eight states. Forty-three of the House seats are in California.

Eighteen Democrats and six Republicans want to succeed GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan, who is stepping down after two terms and preparing for a possible White House bid in 1976.

Public opinion polls indicated the clear front-runners were Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr., 36, son of the governor that Reagan defeated in 1966, and Republican Houston I. Flournoy, 44, California state controller. Brown is California secretary of state.

In New Mexico, six Democrats and four Republicans are bidding for nominations to succeed Democratic Gov. Bruce King, who cannot succeed himself.

Iowa Democrat Harold E. Hughes is vacating his U.S. Senate seat, abandoning politics to become a religious lay leader.

Democratic Rep. John C. Culver is unopposed for the nomination for Hughes' seat. State Sen. George Milligan and State Rep. David Stanley, who lost to Hughes six years ago, are in the GOP primary.

Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa is unopposed in his party renomination bid. There are three Democratic candidates.

In South Dakota, Gov. Richard F. Kneip's bid for a third term is challenged in the Democratic primary by Lt. Gov. William Dougherty, his running mate in the past two campaigns.

Democratic Sen. George McGovern is unopposed for his party' renomination, while three Republicans compete to battle him in the general election, including retired Air Force Col. Leo K. Thorsness, who spent six years in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

U.S. House nominations are at stake in New Jersey, Montana and Mississippi.

In California, Sen. Alan Cranston faced only token opposition from two other Democrats. There were five Republicans in the race including state Sen. H. L. Richardson and Earl Brian, former health and welfare secretary under Reagan.

The California election could provide a test of potential reaction to Watergate and related political scandals.

Since 1969 Republican Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, 50, was considered the front-runner and apparent heir of Reagan's support for the gubernatorial nomination. But his support weakened and his campaign funds virtually dried up when he was indicted by a Watergate grand jury on three counts of lying to the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1972.

Californians also will decide a major political reform measure put on the ballot by petition campaign in reaction to Watergate.

Colson enters plea of guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential aide Charles W. Colson pleaded guilty today to a charge that he led an attempt to influence the outcome of the Daniel Ellsberg trial in 1971.

Colson pleaded guilty to a one-count grand jury indictment accusing him of obstruction of justice.

Other charges against Colson related to the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist were dropped in the surprise court development.

Indications were that charges against Colson in the Watergate cover-up also would be dropped.

The new indictment said Colson attempted to get the original Ellsberg case "tried in the newspapers."

Ellsberg, a former Pentagon analyst, had been accused of leaking the Pentagon Papers to the press.

But Ellsberg was freed in early 1973 when Judge Matthew Byrne found misconduct by the government in the case, citing wiretapping and the break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding.

The indictment to which Colson pleaded guilty said he devised and implemented "a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility of Daniel Ellsberg and those engaged in the legal defense of Daniel Ellsberg..."

Appearing before U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, Colson said "my motives and purpose were to neutralize Dr. Ellsberg as an antiwar speaker... It didn't matter to me that he was facing serious criminal charges."

Gesell set Colson's sentencing for June 21. The maximum penalty for the one-count indictment is five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Local government overhaul proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state must shift the balance of power from state agencies to local agencies, a special panel on local governments has recommended.

The Ohio Commission on Local Government Services, in a report completed last week, said county commissioners in particular should be given more jurisdiction in local matters.

County commissioners should be able to appoint county executives to free them to play a more legislative role, the report said.

Furthermore, commissioners should have the option to create departments of law, personnel, finance, detention and corrections, water and sewers, public works and health, the report said.

"The state of Ohio has long neglected its role in setting policy for the operation of its own agencies and those of its local units of government," the report said.

The state "has no logical financial distribution philosophy for its numerous grants to units of local government," it continued.

"Financial disparities between units of government abound. The formulas do not reflect local fiscal responsibilities. Tax effort and financial needs are not considered in state allocations. In short, the entire system is in need of overhaul."

Other recommendations in the report included:

—Creation of a seven-member, at-large board of county commissioners for counties of more than 290,000 residents.

—Elimination of the county treasurer, combining that responsibility with the office of an elected county auditor.

—Appointment rather than election of the county coroner and county engineer.

—A statewide resource recovery program in place of local waste management programs.

—A better definition of the role police play in enforcing local ordinances.

—A better balance between spending for mass transit and for highways.

—Regional and intergovernmental control of wastewater management.

—Better pay for local jailers and screening and diagnostic treatment for prisoners in county and city jails.

—Creation of a state data users committee to set up a statewide information system to assist in planning governmental services.

—Creation of a bond bank, with state backing, so that smaller communities can get bonds easier and save money on interest.

—Creation of a boundary commission to initiate changes in boundaries of cities, townships and special purpose districts.

Senate opens arms debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is opening debate on a $21.8-billion military procurement bill with emphasis on programs to increase the accuracy and yield of nuclear weapons.

The technological improvements advocated by the Defense Department to provide "strategic flexibility" are challenged as a potential stimulant to the U.S.-Soviet arms race.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., sees prospective U.S. ability to destroy Soviet missiles in their silos as possible provocation for a Soviet first strike in "an international wild west filled with fears and dangers of a nuclear fast gun."

Debate begins today, with a vote anticipated by midweek. The controversy highlights a congressional program for the week that will see possible action also on taxes, appropriations and an extension of the Sugar Act.

The House, which already has passed a $22.6-billion companion to the annual military procurement bill for fiscal year 1975, is scheduled to act Tuesday on a compromise $769-million supplemental defense procurement measure for fiscal 1974.

Wednesday, the House takes up a bill to extend the 1937 Sugar Act for five years with a reduction in federal payments to domestic sugar producers and a continued system of import quotas for 32 countries.

House action is slated Thursday on appropriations for flood control, reclamation and other public works projects and the Atomic Energy Commission, after final committee recommendations earlier in the week.

CLASS OF 74—The 1974 class of 157 graduating Washington Senior High School seniors atteded baccalaureate and commencement exercises at Gardner Park Sunday aftersoon. Thousands of friends attended, filling one side of the stadium grandstand and partially filling the other. Those students, 15 in all, who are members of the National Honor Society, were seated in the first two rows and wore gold honor cords. They were the first to receive their diplomas, followed alphabetically by the rest of the class.

Temperatures reached the 70s in sunny Ohio on Sunday. Warmest spot in the state was Toledo at 78. The Burke Lakefront Airport in downtown Cleveland reached a high of 66.

A band of showers moved eastward across Northern Ohio during the night. Precipitation amounts were a few hundredths of an inch.

Ohio is forecast to be under the influence of high pressure through Tuesday with little chance of any rain. High temperatures today are forecast from 75 to 80. Lows tonight will be 55 to 60.

Highs Tuesday will be in the 80s.

Mild with a chance of daily showers. Highs in the upper 70s and 80s. Lows in the upper 50s and 60s.

Fair skies cover U.S.

By The Associated Press

Hail and high winds have battered parts of northwestern Texas, but most of the nation has clear skies and warm weather today.

Fair skies are reported over the Mississippi Valley, Great Lakes, Southwest, lower Ohio Valley, Tennessee Valley, eastern Texas and much of the Rockies and western plains.

Thundershowers and thunderstorms continue, however, over the southern Atlantic coastal states and much of the plains and Texas. Northwestern Texas had 1¾ inches of hail Sunday, accompanied by a few tornadoes and winds gusting up to 60 miles per hour.

A cold front from western Montana to northern California blanketed the area with clouds. This cloudiness held temperatures along the Pacific coast to cooler readings than those reported inland.

Temperatures ranged from 38 degrees at Pellston, Mich., to 85 degrees at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and Needles, Calif.

Students end OU camp-in

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A small band of students who staged a camp-in over the weekend on the Ohio University campus left this morning after being threatened with trespassing charges.

The students, claiming support for the American Veterans Movement, had set up pup tents on the lawn of the administration building Thursday.

The students had vowed to drink only liquids and eat no food until OU President Claude Sowle met with them.

In a statement issued early today, university officials threatened to charge the students with trespassing unless they moved.

"We have tried to be patient with your protest effort," the statement said. "As you know, three times Thursday Dr. Edward Penson, at Dr. Sowle's request, offered to meet with representatives of your group and three times you refused . . ."

Stock list rally noted

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market greeted the news of a Chicago bank's reduction of its prime lending rate with a modest rally today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.46 at 806.63, and gainers held a lead of better than 2 to 1 over losers on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light, however.

The First National Bank of Chicago lowered its prime rate this morning from 11.75 to 11.60 per cent. Brokers said the news was welcomed on Wall Street, but it appeared many investors remained wary until they could see further signs that a turning point had been reached in interest rates.

Melville Shoe, the most active NYSE issue, was up ¼ at 8⅛ in trading that included a 96,900 share block at 8.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .06 at 81.57.

The Amex volume leader was Syntex, down ⅛ at 44⅞. a 26,300 share block was traded at 45.

The NYSE's noon composite index of some 1,500 common stocks was up .17 at 46.09.

Commissioners explain dog regulations

Routine matters filled the agenda of the county commissioners Monday morning.

The commissioners reported that County Dog Warden Reginald David has investigated 26 reports of stray dogs during the past week.

They asked that residents be reminded that no animal injury claims can be honored if the complainant harbors or feeds stray dogs at his residence.

The county dog and kennel fund, supported by the sale of dog licenses, is available to reimburse the cost of damage or death of animals and livestock which are injured by stray dogs. However, if the owners of injured animals are found to have harbored stray dogs, their application for reimbursement cannot be honored, the commissioners said.

They noted that the license fees are the sole means of support for the salary of the dog warden and his assistant, the upkeep of the dog pound, and for the upkeep of the dog warden's equipment, as well as the animal injury claim fund.

Find jurors frustrated by courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many citizens called for jury duty feel frustrated by the inefficiency of the courts, a study prepared for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration says.

"Wasting jurors' time is a clear-cut example of the criminal justice system's indifference to the needs of citizens," said Administrator Donald E. Santarelli. "More efficient court operations can make jury service more attractive and meaningful to those who serve."

Santarelli said the efficiency recommendations proposed by the researchers could save the nation's courts $50 million annually.

The director of LEAA's research institute, Gerald M. Caplan, said the courts spend some $200 million a year in juror fees.

The survey of certain state and local courts in Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota, Colorado, New Jersey, Texas and Michigan was conducted by Bird Engineering Research Associates Inc. of Vienna, Va., with a $157,365 LEAA grant.

The researchers urged several procedural changes, including staggering trial schedules rather than starting several trials on the same morning, and notifying jurors in advance of days they need not report for duty.

Nation's governors open annual meeting

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The nation's governors open their annual meeting here today, saying they hope to avoid speculation about scandals in the nation's capital while claiming they are doing a better job of meeting the problems of the Watergate era.

Washington's Republican Gov. Daniel J. Evans, this year's conference chairman, told a news conference Sunday that in areas of campaign reform and government ethics, "states have quite clearly taken national leadership."

"In state after state significant sunshine laws, and other similar laws on ethics, on campaign limitations, on lobbyist reporting, open government have taken place while there has not been similar action as dramatic at the national level."

The opening day's business sessions included Evans' "State of the States" speech, a roundtable discussion with key congressional leaders of both parties and a panel on health care.

The health care seminar featured Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; American Medical Association President Dr. Russell B. Roth; and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar Weinberger.

All but four of the nation's governors are expected to attend the formal opening of the conference today. Govs. John Burns of Hawaii, Bob Ray of Iowa, Francis Sargent of Massachusetts and George Wallace of Alabama have said they would not attend.

On Sunday, the conference's executive committee approved a broad resolution, sponsored by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lucey, D-Wis., calling for reforms "at all levels of government."

The resolution, due for consideration by the full conference Wednesday, urges "loophole-free" campaign finance reforms in public campaign financing, strict ethics codes, wider disclosure of lobbying activities and greater openness in government.

Most of the questions at Evans' news conference and during an appearance of six governors on NBC's "Meet the Press" dealt with Watergate and President Nixon's refusal to supply additional evidence sought by the House impeachment probe and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Three governors from each party said Nixon should supply the material sought by the House Judiciary Committee. Democrat Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Republican Tom McCall of Oregon said failure to do so would be grounds for removing Nixon from office.

"He should give them everything they want or step down as President," said McCall, the only Republican governor who wants Nixon to resign from office.

"I personally believe the President is guilty, and I think that the release of evidence will prove it," Carter said.

Those who said they thought Nixon should provide the materials sought by the House panel were Evans, and Govs. Daniel Walker, D-Ill., Wendell R. Anderson, D-Minn., and Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky.

Evans was asked at the news conference if he could forsee a situation in which Nixon would be justified in balking at a Supreme Court order to supply Watergate evidence.

He said the question was "too speculative" but noted any court decision is composed of a verdict and a written opinion.

"The opinion itself may be highly qualified and as such might not clearly represent an impeachable offense if the President were to say 'No,'" said Evans, who is not a lawyer.

Disagreement emerged over the impact of Watergate on the mood of the country.

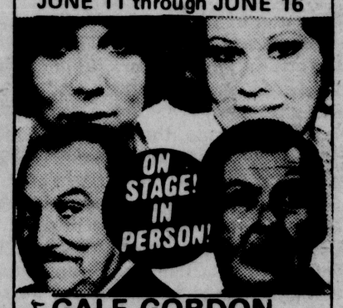

Carter, who heads the Democratic campaign drive for the November congressional and gubernatorial elections, said "Watergate is really an embarrassing thing for the American people.

"It's kind of like having an illegitimate child in the family. You know it's happened. You know who is responsible. But you don't want to talk about it much in public."

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A murkyism is a statement which gives the illusion of something profound. We cite as a prime example the saying, "He who would rule the sand must be brother to the wind."

Tonight, public television is offering a one-hour murkyism called "Video: The New Wave." It's described as "highly personal statements by a new wave of artists experimenting in the early stage of the video revolution."

It might better be described as "how to study under Ernie Kovacs and flunk the course."

Some 30 pieces of experimental video artwork are on display, many of them electronic abstractions in which shapes are altered, bizarre noises made and eyes tortured.

It will be a bonanza for those wont to cry, "How profound! How profound!" when a work of modern art has them stumped. For civilians, the show may simply appear the work of cuckoos.

However, both sides will enjoy a brief, funny sequence, taped by San Francisco's Top Value Television crew, in which CBS' Roger Mudd refuses to answer TVT questions at the 1972 GOP national convention.

Our knowledgeable guide throughout this tour of television's rarely seen avant garde gallery is an art critic, Brian O'Doherty, whose commentary is not unlike that of an art critic.

As one set of images shape up, he advises that the work is "reflective, transcendental, mystical."

As another artist electronically alters a photograph of himself and his father, we're told the piece "brings into this medium subtleties rarely found in it." He is right.

As we see a block of ice consumed by fire, we learn "the content is not in the result, but in the process."

The show's high spot arrives with a study of transparent tape on a wood floor. And our guide observes: "The tape as it lies asks, 'Where am I?' Removing the tape gives the answer."

After 40 minutes, I asked, "Where am I?" Removing myself gave the answer.

I know I shouldn't knock creative efforts, but I got to thinking about all this and, honest to Pete, the whole thing is plumb ridiculous.

Solon seeking U.N. position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry P. Smith III, a New York Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, says he is seeking appointment as a congressional liaison officer with the United Nations.

Smith, who is not seeking reelection, said he has been "working gently" toward obtaining the U.N. post after he leaves Congress.

The appointment can be made either through the U.N. or through the U.S. State Department.

Federal cash sought for child welfare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Welfare says it has asked the federal government for $650,000 to fund a series of management training courses for child welfare personnel.

Opinion And Comment

Slowdown saves lives

Occasional efforts are made to discredit that old highway safety adage, "Speed kills." The expression weathers all attacks because, unlike some glib slogans, it has a sound basis in fact.

The fact is that, all things considered, speed increases the frequency of accidents and the severity of injuries. There is no mystery as to the reasons for this; they have to do with the nature of human beings and the laws of physics.

The higher the speed of an automobile, the quicker the driver must react in an emergency. There are limits to human reaction time. If a driver is barely able to extricate himself from a tight spot at 50 miles an hour, he may not quite make it at 70 or 80. The extra speed makes the difference.

Higher speed also leads to worse injuries and more deaths. The faster a car is moving when it crashes, the faster occupants are hurtled from their seats at the moment of impact. The National Safety Council informs us that in a crash at 50 m.p.h. the chance of survival is four times greater than at 70 m.p.h.

This leads naturally into the Safety Council's heartening news that this year's three-day Memorial Day weekend brought the fewest auto deaths in 14 years. Reduced speed was not the only factor in this; some reduction in the amount of driving also played a part. But the most important element seems to have been a general slowdown on the highways.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Israelis fear for water supply

On a recent trip to Israel I tumbled to something that escapes the headlines in all the stories about the Israeli-Syrian struggle for the Golan Heights. In practically every account of Henry Kissinger's maneuvering to find an acceptable cease-fire formula that will adjourn the bickering to Geneva (in our day peace talks are the continuation of war by other means), the big question revolves around militarily defensible boundaries. The Isrealis are naturally afraid of exposing their kibbutzim, or voluntary farm collectives, around the Sea of Galilee to Syrian artillery fire from close up. The Syrains, for their part, are frightened by the possibility that the Israelis might, some day, take off from the neighborhood of the town of Kuneitra for a sweep on Damascus.

These fears are real, but, for the Israelis, the need either to command or neutralize the Golan Heights region transcends purely military considerations. The Syrians could promise never to fire another shot at the Israeli kibbutz of Ein Gev, which nestles under the frowning upsweep of the Golan hills, and still the whole of the Israeli north would be at the mercy of Arab plotting. The menace is summed up in one word: water.

If you look at a large-scale Middle East map, you will see that the sources of the Jordan River are in territory that, before 1967, belonged to Syria. True, the upper Jordan waters empty into the Sea of Galilee in what has always been Israeli territory. From Galilee they flow on to the Dead Sea, mostly through contested land. One drawback about taking water directly from Galilee is that it is a slightly saline lake; to get really good water the Israelis must divert it before it enters Galilee itself.

THE ISRAELI pumping station for its whole artificial irrigation system is at Tabkha, not very far from the present Syrian border. If the Syrians could wreck Tabkha, they would have the Israelis at their mercy. Before the Six-Day War of 1967, the Syrians showed the utmost in ill-will toward the Israelis whenever water problems were discussed. The late Eric Johnston, one-time head of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, had worked out a plan for sharing water from the Jordan sources among the four nations of Syria, Israwl, Jordan and Lebanon. But the Syrians refused to accept the plan; they would do nothing, they told their Arab brothers in Jordan and Lebanon, that would help Israel become self-sufficient in food.

The 1967 war, which pushed the Syrians back from the Golan crests, did not enable the Israelis to put the Johnston plan into effect all by themselves. But it at least put some vital distance between their existing irrigation system and the Syrians. To give up much of the Golan would be to subject virtually the whole population of Israel to water blackmail. This would be even worse than oil blackmail, which, as the whole Western world now knows, is bad enough.

The Syrians and the Lebanese don't need water as badly as the Israelis — at least they don't need Jordan water. Lebanon has its own mountains and a goodly rainfall — it grew the cedars of antiquity that figure in the Bible.

As for Syria, it is, according to the Middle-East Intelligence Survey, engaged in complicated negotiations with Iraq and Turkey for the sharing of the Euphrates River water. The political squabbles between Turks, Iraqis and Syrians over parcelling out the water and hydroelectric power of the Euphrates multiply endlessly, and are complicated by Turkey's need for Iraq's oil. But Syria gets first whack at the Orontes River water before it flows into Turkey.

Syria isn't hunting for the lack of moisture the way Israel would hurt if the Jordan headwaters were to be diverted, as they might be if the Golan Heights were to be lost by the Irsraelis by connivance of the Big Powers of Geneva.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JUNE 4

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Get another's point of view before making final decisions. You may be pleasantly surprised at the new perspectives you gain.

TAURUS
(Apirl 21 to May 21)

Be flexible, but not easily turned by every wind that blows; eager to take new steps forward, but not at the cost of future losses or setbacks.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Curb a tendency toward inertia, lackadaisical action. Stress self-discipline. Current matters need further study. Some trends changing.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Lunar influences encourage well-organized moves, but you will need all your resourcefulness to straighten out a few kinks before "taking off."

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Stellar influences somewhat adverse. Shun contentious matters, unscrupulous persons, risky and untried ventures.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You may now expect a "different" approach from others; also a real surprise. The manner in which you meet these will have great bearing on ultimate aims.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Satisfactory gains indicated through carrying on with present operations, but day will not be good for starting new ventures.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may encounter a few baffling situations: Remain undisturbed, neither overanxious nor careless. Avoid excesses and extremes.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

An auspicious day. Seek solutions to pending problems through conferences, consultation with experts. Be concise and efficient without stepping on anyone's toes.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Mixed influences, mixed possibilities. How you react to opposition and unexpected obstacles will tell the tale.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Especially favored now: all creative efforts (writings especially), travel, meetings of purpose. Earnings can be increased through any of these avenues.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as surprising developments—and achievement—in recently stagnant areas.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely entelligent individual, highly imaginative and original in your ideas and methods. Your curiosity is boundless, thus you are unceasing in your quest for knowledge. This curiosity, incidentally, makes you a "antural" for the fields of journalism, science and exploration. However, your unusual versatility and readiness of comprehension fit you for many other vocations, and you could succeed admirable as an editor, musician, research worker, actor or novelist. You live travel but, unlike most born under Gemini, you have great stability, not scattering energies but content, when necessary, to "stay put" and concentrate on immediate objectives. Thus, you often succeed more quickly in reaching your goals.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Approximately one year ago, I had published in The Record-Herald an editorial criticizing local county authorities for the unsightly condition of Bloomingburg's burial grounds. Occasionally it takes an outsider's criticism to stimulate enough local interest to correct a condition that was not in the best interest of the community.

On Wednesday preceding the past Memorial Day, I again visited the Bloomingburg Cemetery, also the Washington C.H. cemetery, and was impressed with the neat condition of the burial sites in your community. In this regard, I want to express my appreciation to the local authorities for the improved conditions at the Bloomingburg site.

I am also aware that many within your community are appreciative and wish to express their thanks for your efforts to a worthy cause. They are hopeful this continues to be a year around effort.

Bowling Green resident killed

WESTON, Ohio (AP) — One man was killed and another injured Sunday when their helicopter crashed into an oat field near Weston in northwest Ohio, authorities reported.

The Wood County Sheriff's Department identified the victim as David Troxoll, 25, of Bowling Green.

A passenger in the helicopter, David Dimick of Bowling Green, was reported in fair condition in a local hospital.

Sheriff's deputies said Troxoll and Dimick purchased the helicopter recently for crop spraying and were testing it at the time of the crash.

Ohio Perspective

Meshel becomes oil watchdog

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In the past few months Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, has taken on the job of oil company watchdog as gasoline prices went up and gasoline shortages grew less.

Since January he has introduced three measures aimed at oil company operations. He indicates more may be in the mill.

The latest Meshel bill would require all gasoline service stations to post their prices in a conspicuous place in lettering at least six inches high.

Meshel said he was trying to help the consumer.

"In these days when consumers feel the need to shop around for gas it is difficult to do so unless price signs are adequately posted so they can be read from the street," Meshel said.

"It is a waste of everyone's time for customers to wait in long lines for gas only to find upon getting to the pumps that the prices are inordinately out of line."

Meshel's bill also requires large signs telling whether a station is open or closed.

Meshel also has two resolutions pending in the Senate — one requesting a freeze in the prices of gasoline and diesel fuel for a year and the other asking for a similar freeze on oil and bottling gas prices.

The Youngstown lawmaker noted the two resolutions if adopted would only express the sentiment of the Senate and would not have the weight of law.

As Meshel knows, the view of the Senate can readily be made into a law if there is widespread support.

The bill dictating service station price signs and open and closed signs could become law upon passage by both houses and the signature of the governor.

Both resolutions would request the wholesale and retail distributors of gasoline, diesel oil, fuel oil and bottled gas to report present inventories and expected supplies to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

"The resolutions, offered at a time when oil company profits are soaring to new heights, seek to stabilize fuel prices throughout Ohio," said Meshel.

Nixon returns to White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has returned to the White House after spending the weekend at his Camp David, Md., retreat with his wife and friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

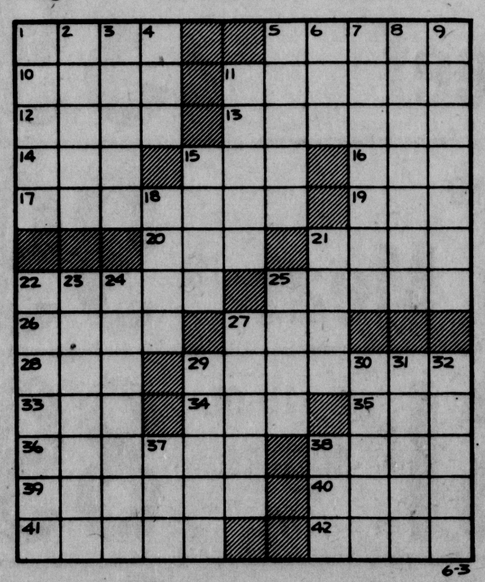

A spokesman said Nixon worked in his Aspen Lodge study on "foreign policy matters," presumably his planned trips to the Middle East and Russia later this month.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Wife has other ideas on lovey-dovey hubby

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a very loving husband. That's the trouble. He's TOO loving. For example, this morning he drove the kids to school and came back thinking I'd drop everything and make the bedroom scene with him. He often waits aroound until all the kids are gone, then he starts getting lovey-dovey when I should be getting my housework done.

Will you please tell him that the time for romance is after all the kids are asleep?

Also, he always get ideas after bowling. Bowling wears me out, but for him it's an afrodeeshiak (or however you spell it). I wouldn't mind if I could sleep the next morning, but I have to get up to drive the car pool. Am I wrong to complain? After all, we're not newlyweds. We've been married for 17 years.

NO BRIDE

DEAR NO BRIDE: The ideal time for romance is when both parties are in the mood and have nothing else to do, but unfortunately that's not always possible. I say, shoot the ducks when they're flying-the housework will keep. And if the situation were reversed, I'd advise the husband to do the same.

DEAR ABBY: That answer you gave "Mad at My Husband" the gal whose husband objected to her wearing a dress with a plunging neckline-sounded like something out of the Dark Ages.

You said "Some husband don't mind if their wives dress sexy, but if yours does-don't!"

Abby, you're dead wrong. A woman is entitled to dress any way she chooses, and no one, including her husband, has the right to dictate otherwise.

Would your answer have been the same if a man had written to say that his wife objected to the way HE dressed?

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: You bet your sweet bippy! (More than one wife wrote to complain because her husband had started wearing his pants too tight. I advised her, "Tell your husband that if he wants to wear the pants in the family, he should wear 'em a little looser!")

DEAR ABBY: Iam a happy-go lucky 25-year-old guy who is still in shock by something that happened to me last week.

I went to a newsstand where they sell magazines and paperback books. I got interested in a magazine and started to read it. I was standing there maybe 30 or 40 minutes, reading, when the lady who works there came up and said, "I think you've been here long enough. Either buy that magazine or put it back and leave."

Abby, I was so embarrassed, I put the magzine back in the rack and left. A couple of people heard her, and I really felt cheap. Aren't those magazines put out for people to look at? I wasn't bothering anyone or making a disturbance. Did that lady have the right to tell me to leave?

RED FACE

DEAR RED: Yes, but she could have done it quietly and spared you the embarrassment. Leafing through a magazine to decide whether to buy it is one thing-reading it is something else. Magazines that have been read by half a dozen people are fairly shopworn and not easy to sell.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.P.: Look at it this way. Hypertension is the price you pay for being a race horse instead of a cow.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069. Enclose stamped, self addressed envelope, please.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, June 3, the 154th day of 1974. There are 211 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date —

In 1621, the Dutch West India Company received a charter for New Netherlands — now New York.

In 1808, Confederate President Jefferson Davis was born in what is now Todd County, Ky.

In 1937, the Duke of Windsor married Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, Md., in France.

In 1942, in World War II, Japanese warplanes raided Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

In 1962, 30 members of an Atlanta, Ga., art group were killed in an airliner crash at Paris, France.

In 1966, a surveyor one spacecraft was relaying back pictures of the Lunar surface after making America's first soft landing on the moon.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson described American military might as awesome, saying it exceeded the combined might of all the nations in world history.

Five years ago: President Nixon denounced what he called the self-righteous moral arrogance of college extremists but urged the nation to heed the demands of the young for honesty in American life.

One year ago: a Soviet supersonic airliner crashed during an international air show near Paris, killing the six crewmen and seven French villagers.

Today's birthdays: Actor Tony Curtis is 49 years old. Poet Allen Ginsberg is 48.

Cash seen best investment

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Economic instability is producing some odd consequences in the financial markets. Cash, for instance, is considered by many to be the best investment, all things considered.

The main ingredient of that term "all things" is doubt— doubt about the likelihood of economic equilibrium returning soon, doubt about the chances of conventional investment outlets growing more attractive.

Stockholders of Slater, Walker Securities Ltd., a Londonbased conglomerate, were growing increasingly restless as they saw the firm's assets sold off for cash. Financial trouble? No. As the chairman explained at the company's annual meeting, the world's economy is in a critical condition. It is becoming increasingly difficult to invest in industry because of stock market slumps and socialism.

Cash, he told relieved shareholders, is "high yielding, relatively secure and easy to manage."

American money managers also seem attracted to cash. Mutual funds are organized to invest mainly in corporate shares. But many mutual funds are keeping a large portion of their money in cash instead of stocks.

Ironically, this conservative posture may be one of the big reasons why the stock market fails to move ahead. If money remains on the sidelines it is of no use to the stock market.

While the cash position of mutual funds is now approaching 10 per cent of assets, a very high figure, the cash position of bank trust departments may be even higher. They too are reluctant to commit their cash.

While investor indolence has a history of many months, a new factor conceivably could be introduced that also would keep money from being invested in productive industry. It's an old element: Gold.

The U.S. Senate last week voted to permit Americans to own gold beginning Sept. 1. The gold market, which has been quieting down in recent weeks, grew excited again.

Based on the manner in which Americans have been collecting antiques and silver and plates and art, which they feel have intrinsic as well as paper value, they would also hoard gold if they were permitted to get their hands on it. They have been forbidden to do so since 1933. Informed guesses now suggest the House will balk again at granting permission.

Priest speaks with newsman

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. John D. McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest who works as a White House aide, says that despite his political work "I'm available for weddings, funerals, baptisms—exorcisms."

Father McLaughlin, 47, said in an interview with People magazine published Sunday that "I've never performed an exorcism, but the time could come."

The priest, an ardent defender of President Nixon, stirred controversy earlier this month when he defended Nixon's use of profanity in the Watergate transcripts.

Hole devours old tires, other objects

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The four-foot wide hole in James Johnson's backyard has devoured 162 used tires and wheels, and he's a little worried about what the cavity might choose for its next meal.

"The size of the thing worries me," he said. "I'm afraid it might act like a funnel and just keep sucking things down."

When Johnson's wife first discovered the hole she thought it had been dug by a gopher and started poking with a broom handle to find the bottom. She failed.

As the hole grew, the family began to think it was an old well, capped at a depth of 32 feet, where metal and other debris were found. But since the tires have disappeared, they're not so sure.

Johnson fed the cavity its last snack in February 1973. He covered it and figured he had an entire backyard once more. But this week he checked it again, since he plans to extend his house that way.

"You can see just a few of the tires now," he said, "right at the very bottom."

The Johnson's hole has been chewing for quite a while. Mrs. Johnson recalled that a family which owned the house in the 1930s filled it up with gravel, metal and other fill—all of which disappeared.

"I just wonder where it's all going," she said.

MT bus driver re-elected OAPSE transportation head

A Miami Trace School District bus driver has been re-elected as one of the five department heads of the Ohio Association of Public School Employes.

Gilbert Jones, 46, of Jeffersonville, was first elected to the post last spring. As president of the transportation department of the OAPSE he is responsible for coordinating the organization's activities for transportation personnel.

One such activity will be the second annual transportation workshop to be held in Columbus this summer. Last year's workshop attracted 325 school employes statewide.

The OASPE concerns itself with the working environment of non-teaching school employes, including custodians, cooks, secretaries, bus drivers, educational aides and nurses.

The organization is responsible for the employes' retirement fund and maintain lobbyists in the Statehouse. There are 30,000 members.

Jones, a driver at Miami Trace for more than nine years, is also employed at Hidy's Foods. He is married and has one daughter, Alicia, who will begin attending Miami Trace this fall.

Angola crash fatal to man

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP) — A Toledo, Ohio, man was killed and his wife critically injured Sunday when their car went out of control on U. S. 20, five miles west of Angola, Ind., and struck a utility pole.

Police identified the victim as Wayne D. Vollmar, 38. They said Vollmar was a passenger in a car driven by his wife, Marilyn, 36.

Mrs. Vollmar was listed in critical condition at Cameron Hospital at Angola. The couple's three children — James, 11; John, 13, and Howard, 14 — were hospitalized in good condition.

UN TROOPS MOVE IN — United Nations vehicles move down in a street in the town of Quneitra in the Golan Heights. Quneitra is in the buffer zone between Israeli and Syrian forces after the disengagement agreement and has been a battleground since 1967.

12 persons killed on Ohio highways

By The Associated Press

Twelve persons died in traffic accidents over the weekend, half of them pedestrians, the Ohio Highway Patrol said.

The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

COLUMBUS — Ronald Stinson, 24, of Columbus, when his motorcycle ran off the road and crashed on the south side of Columbus.

DELAWARE — Martha Thomas, 21, of Delaware, when the car in which she was riding crashed on a Delaware street.

PIQUA — Robert L. Cooper, 35, of Piqua, as he walked along a Miami County road.

TOLEDO — Ella M. Bush, 56, of Holland, in a three-car collision on U.S. 20 in Lucas County.

RAVENNA — Barry S. Sowinski, 20, Ravenna, in a onecar accident in Ravenna.

LOUISVILLE — Barbara Lee Gorman, 23, of Louisville, when she was hit by a car while walking along a Stark County road.

NORTH CANTON — Howard Douglas, 41, of Greentown, when he was hit by a car as he walked along a Stark County road.

Kissinger sends notes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has sent secret messages to Syria and Israel spelling out their unwritten commitments to each other under the Golan Heights disengagement agreement he negotiated, a Lebanese publication reported today.

The Arab World, a usually well-informed digest of Arab news and opinion, said the commitments covered such issues as Palestinian guerrillas, the status of the buffer zone and satellite reconnaissance. It gave no source for its information.

The report said Syrian President Hafez Assad refused to discuss the Palestinian guerrillas with Kissinger but assured him his government would abide by the cease-fire agreement, and "this was interpreted as an assurance that there will be no guerrilla activity from the Syrian side of the truce line with Syria's advance knowledge."

The Arab World said Israel agreed that the buffer zone between the two opposing armies, though under United Nations military control, will revert completely to Syrian sovereignty.

It takes from 30 to 40 gallons of sap to make one gallon of maple syrup.

Road crews to patch and mow

All three area road and street crews will concentrate on patching streets and roads and mowing berms this week. The Washington C.H. Street Department will continue painting curbs and center stripes.

Painting on Court Street should be concluded Monday, according to Bill Duncan, general foreman of the city street department. When Court Street is completed, painting will begin on others streets.

The Ohio Department of Transportation garage will be repairing guard rails in addition to mowing and patching. The full week's schedule was not available because Gene Gitzpatric, garage superintendent, began his vacation Monday.

The county will tackle drainage problems on Johnson Road, Madison Townshop, and on York Road in Perry Township, reported Charles Wagner, county engineer. Crews will be patching roads in Madison and Union townships and will work on culverts in Jeffersonville Township.

Bride-elect Miss Haugen is guest of honor

Miss Teresa L. Haugen, bride-elect of John R. Meriweather, was guest of honor at a luncheon-shower Thursday held at the Washington Country Club. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Mark Schaper, Mrs. John Bath and Mrs. Paul Crosby.

A pink and lavender theme prevailed in decorations. Miss Haugen was presented a corsage by the hostess previous to her opening of the many lovely gifts.

Invited guests were Mrs. LaVerne Haugen, and Mrs. Robert Meriweather, mothers of the couple, Mrs. Charles Pyle and Mrs. Arthur Haugen, the grandmothers, and Mrs. Richard Arnott, Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, Mrs. Robert Harris, Mrs. Philip Binzel, Mrs. George Pommert, Mrs. James Hanawalt, Mrs. Robert Heiny, Mrs. Donald Moore, Mrs. Elmer Reed, Mrs. James O. Garringer, Mrs. Carl Meriweather, Miss Jane Meriweather, Mrs. Jon Ervin, Mrs. Jack Stackhouse, Mrs. Birch Rice, Mrs. H. W. Payton:

Also Mrs. Byers Shaw, Mrs. Ralph Gebhart, Miss Beth Crosby, Mrs. Ben Wright, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Ralph Cook, Mrs. Lawrence Dumford, Mrs. Harold Soldan, Mrs. Ed Vollett, Mrs. Harris Willis, Mrs. Walter Binez, Mrs. Andre Metais, Miss Susan Meriweather, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. John E. Rhodes, Mrs. Charles Cummings of Sabina, and Mrs. Thomas Shafor of Kettering.

Miss Haugen and Mr. Meriweather will be married June 29 in Grace United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Copley WCTU hostess

Mrs. Cloyce Copley, 221 Gardner Ct., extended hospitality to the Washington C.H., Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Friday afternoon.

Meeting was opened with devotions by Mrs Paul Niswander, who read Scripture, and article "Compassion", and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Copley presided when reports were read and approved. It was agreed to send a donation to the Lancaster Camp Ground for electric renovation in the W.C.T.U. cottage, and a donation was made toward a new roof on the headquarters building in Columbus.

Mrs. John Case was devotional leader for the afternoon. Mrs. Henry Simmons read an article on "Alcoholism". Two years ago after the State of Michigan dropped its legal drinking age to 18, accidents involving teenage drinking drivers more than doubled, she said. A survey of drugs among High School students in San Mateo, Calif. showed that teenagers were drinking more.

Mrs. Thomas Willis added that alcohol related problems are the cause of 85,000 deaths in the U.S. each year, 50,000 of those are killed annually in highway accidents each year.

Mrs. Case read that tobacco is one of the leading causes of heart, lung, circulatory diseases, and cancer.

Mrs. Gertrude Ullrich was a guest of the afternoon.

Following the meeting , Mrs. Copley and Mrs. Simmons served a dessert course.

The next meeting, June 28, will be held in the home of Mrs. Ralph Hays.

Crusaders meet

Christian Crusaders Class, South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall, Saturday evening for the regular monthly meeting. A cafeteria supper was served preceding the meeting and Dr. J.G. Jordan gave the invocation.

Howard Brooks presided at the business session. Existing projects were discussed but tabled until a later meeting, and no new ones were added at this time.

In the absence of Frank Coulter, Mr. Brooks brought devotions entitled: "When everything keeps going from bad to worse." He read from Timothy and Hebrews and closed with prayer.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Margaret Emrick, Mrs. Frank Coulter and Mrs. Isaac Beedy. Hostesses for July 6 meeting will be Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Grant Whiteside and Mrs. John Sparks.

Sorority has smorgasbord

The Phi Theta Gamma Sorority held its final meeting for the year 1973-74 on May 22, 1974 at the home of Mrs. Douglas Grubb. President Chris Campbell called the meeting to order and led the members in the opening ritual.

The Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were read and approved.

Mrs. Campbell announced the committees for the year 1974-75 and additions were made at that time. Discussions about the sorority's socials were held and plans were made for several outings this summer.

A motion was made by Mrs. Grubb and seconded by Mrs. Kenneth Blade that new secret sisters be chosen for the following year and that old secret sisters be revealed.

A request was made by Mrs. James Bennett that all committee meetings be held in June and that the chairmen turn in their reports by July 1st.

After the meeting a refreshment smorgasbord was served to Mrs. Keith Osborne, Mrs. Blade, Miss Renee Satchell, Miss Pam Starr, Mrs. Corliss Hyer, Mrs. Gary Campbell, Mrs. Grubb and son, Marc, and Mrs. Bennett.

The members of the Phi Theta Gamma Sorority honored their mothers by taking them to the Columbus Springfield Dinner Theatre. All enjoyed a lovely dinner after which the actors presented "The Tender Trap". Members and mothers present were Mrs. Doug Grubb and Mrs. Birma Wuest, Mrs. Corliss Hyer, Mrs. Kenneth Blade, Mrs. Gary Campbell and Mrs. Lela Campbell, Miss Renee Satchell and Mrs. Robert Satchell, Miss Charla Butler and Mrs. Herbert Perrill, Mrs. Keith Osborne and Mrs. Beryl Smith, Mrs. David Kelley and Mrs. Ivan Kelley, Mrs. Roger McCoy and Mrs. Dean Barton, and Mrs. Mike McCoy and Mrs. Langdon McCoy.

Perk up dishes with walnuts

WALNUT COFFEE RING — It's made with refrigerated biscuits.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Walnuts do wonders for lots of dishes. A cook who likes to take the easy way and make a coffee ring from refrigerator biscuits can do so with walnuts, butter, sugar and flavorings. This is a delicious coffee cake to serve when friends come for morning, afternoon or evening coffee.

One of the best ways we know to use walnuts is in a cheddar cheese spread made with lots of walnuts, pimiento-stuffed green olives, prepared mustard, horseradish and mayonnaise.

WALNUT COFFEE RING

¼ cup butter or margarine
Two 8-ounce packages refrigerator biscuits (10 in each package)
1-3rd cup sugar
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2-3rds cup large pieces walnuts

In a 10-inch skillet over low heat, melt the butter; remove from heat.

Cut each biscuit into quarters; add these wedges to the skillet and toss to coat with the butter.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the sugar, orange rind and nutmeg; sprinkle over biscuit wedges; add walnuts; toss together. Spoon into a well-buttered 8-inch (6-cup) ring mold.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until browned — 30 to 35 minutes; if top browns too much before end of baking, cover with a sheet of foil. Let stand about 5 minutes at room temperature, then invert on a serving plate and remove mold. Serve warm with sweet butter. If any of the ring is left over in may be wrapped in foil and reheated.

Kroger names manager for Columbus zone

Harold P. Templeton, vice president of The Kroger Co. Columbus division, has announced the promotion or Robert Washtock to Zone Manager of the Columbus division.

Washtock will have responsibility for 11 Kroger stores in Chillicothe, Jackson, Circleville, Washington C.H., Greenfield, Portsmouth, McArthur, Wellston, and Waverly.

Bob started his career with Kroger in 1962 as a management trainee in the Wisconsin division. After serving as a co-manager, store manager, and personnel assistant in Wisconsin division, he was promoted to Kroger General Office as a training coordinator in July 1966. Bob was assigned personnel manager of the Kansas City division in 1968, then promoted to Houston division as personnel manager, which position he held until he entered the company's zone manager training program.

Bob is married and will be moving with his family to the Columbus division area within a short time.

See tight supplies of steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Demand will keep steel supplies tight despite the industry's capacity plans, Industry Week magazine said today.

"If demand for steel remains anywhere near current levels the tight supply situation will prevail for at least three years, and maybe more," it said.

Industry Week said chief executives of steel firms indicate that there still are more problems than solutions, and not enough money, in making capacity expansion plans.

The magazine also said that the multiplicity of base prices and changes in price extras on steel are forcing steel users to make major shifts in their buying policies.

"Besides having to pay increased base prices, steel users are having to analyze new price extras," it explained. "This poses a monumental problem for steel users whose buying practices and even some of their equipment were set up on the basis of the old pricing of extras."

Buyers are examining each price extra in relation to their steel needs and manufacturing practices to see what is now the most economical buying practice, the magazine continued.

Set record on roller coaster

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Rain showers were more of a problem than queasy stomachs as four teen-aged boys from Ohio and Indiana rode a roller coaster 36 hours during the weekend to establish a world record.

"Our only problem was keeping dry during the rain Friday," said Ralph Rice, 19, of Dayton.

The youths efforts broke by five hours the former mark of 31 hours set in 1968 by six Englishmen.

The record was set at the Kings Island amusement park near Cincinnati. The trip lasted from 10:07 a.m. Friday to 10:07 p.m. Saturday.

Officials said the ride covered a total of 546 miles and 728 laps. The boys agreed to physical examinations before attempting the ride and consumed liquid nutrients during the once-an-hour stops.

Accompanying Rice was Joe Hummer, 18, also of Dayton, and Michael Meir, 16, and Corky Lamb, 17, both of Indianapolis.

Rural schooling below average

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although people are going to school longer than they used to, those in rural areas still are dropping out sooner than their city cousins, the Agriculture Department says.

During the decade of the 1960s, according to the department's Economic Research Service, people generally added about one and a half years to their schooling. Based on 1970 census figures, the median number of years spent going to school for persons 25 or older was slightly more than 12.

That means one-half of the population had more than the median years of schooling and one-half had fewer. But in totally rural counties, researchers found, the median school career lagged the national average by a full two years.

Two cars were demolished and four people injured in a spectacular accident at 11 p.m. Saturday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

A car driven by Arnold R. Lewis, 25, of 1014 Paint St., failed to negotiate a left curve on Ohio 41, seven-tenths of a mile south of Inskeep Road, traveled 34 feet off the road, cut diagonally back across the road for a distance of 93 feet and then traveled another 117 feet on the left berm before colliding with an oncoming car driven by Earl M. Binegar, 42, Jeffersonville.

Binegar had five passengers accompaning him and everyone involved in the accident was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Lewis was taken by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, treated for multiple lacerations of the face and head, abrasions to the right shoulder and examined for a possible head injury. He was admitted and released this morning.

Binegar was taken to the hospital by Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Crooks and Deputy Robert Russell, and was treated for a right elbow injury and released. His four passengers, Jo Ann Binegar, 33, Jeffersonville; Douglas Binegar, 14, Jeffersonville; Theresa Ann Binegar, 8, Jeffersonville; and Ralph Dale Jordan Jr., 13, Jeffersonville, were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service.

Ralph Jordan and Douglas Binegar were examined and released, having no apparent injury; Jo Ann Binegar was treated for an injury to her right knee and examined for a possible head injury and then released; and Teresa Binegar was treated for a laceration to her inside upper lip and released.

A charge of reckless operation is expected to be filed against Lewis, the sheriff's department stated.

OTHER ACCIDENTS over the weekend were as follows:

SHERIFF

FRIDAY, 12:01 a.m. — A motorcycle driven by Darrel Scott Dawson, 19, Auburn, Ala., went off the road on a left curve in Jefferson Township on Ohio 41.

The bike skidded 154 feet in the roadside gravel and flipped over, sliding 38 more feet before coming to rest in a ditch.

Dawson was unhurt in the mishap, but his passenger, Don Bennett, 25, Jeffersonville, suffered abrasions of both arms and complained of pain in his right clavicle. He was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

SATURDAY, 9 p.m. — Minor damage was incurred by a van driven by Donald Page Foxworth Jr., 17, of 703 Church St., and a parked car owned by Mildred Ann Anders, 732 S. North St., in the Roller Haven parking lot, CCC-Highway-W.

SUNDAY, 4 p.m. — A minor parking lot accident involved a car driven by Sandra R. Butler, 34, Jeffersonville and a parked car owned by Dale E. Evans, Jeffersonville, at Andrews Sohio gas station, Jeffersonville.

POLICE

SATURDAY, 11:47 a.m. — An accident occurred between cars driven by Charles R. Moore, 24, of 1236 Rawling St., and Fred L. Coldiron, 71, of 1229 Rawling St., at the intersection of Columbus Avenue and Blackstone Street.

Slight damage was done to both autos and Moore was charged by police with failure to yield right of way.

12:40 p.m. — Cars driven by Herman Lee Williams, 34, of 1106 Clemson Plaza and Walter H. Coil, 61, of 910 Millwood Ave., were severely damaged in an accident on N. North Street, near the Market Street intersection.

Coil had pulled into the Williamson car's path and was cited by police for failure to yield right of way.

SUNDAY, 2:32 p.m. — The brakes failed on a car driven by Carl Gray, 24, of 314½ E. Market St., while he was backing out of a driveway at 728 Eastern Ave.

His car rolled across the street and into a driveway, where it struck a parked car owned by Elsie Haynes, 725 Eastern Ave.

Slight damage was done in the mishap.

Several thefts reported

Merchandise valued at $667 was stolen from Baker Sales and Service over six cases of pop bottles were taken from Stephenson's Market and a Bush Road mailbox and post were stolen, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported today. City Police are investigating the theft of a shopping cart and empty pop bottles from Krogers, and reported a dog bite.

Baker Sales and Service, Jeffersonville, was burglarized sometime between 8 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday, Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Entry to the building was gained by breaking a window unlatching it and crawling through. The thief then stole three chain saws and a battery charger, valued at a total of $667. Investigation is continuing.

Over six cases of empty pop bottles, valued at $14.50, were stolen from the rear of Stephenson's Market, U.S. 22-E and Bogus Road, sometime between 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 8 .M. Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies are seeking the thief.

A mailbox and post owned by Larry Gene Carmans, Bush Road, were taken sometime between 9 a.m. and 12 noon Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported.

A shopping cart valued at $25 and $10 worth of empty pop bottles owned by Krogers, 238 S. Main St., were discovered in high weeds near the railroad tracks by S. North Street, Saturday evening.

City Police are investigating the theft.

Andrew A. Huysman, 13, of 1040 Golfview Rd., was bitten on the left leg by a dog while riding his bicycle in the vicinity of Paint and Lewis Streets at 7:50 p.m. Sunday, police reported.

Huysman was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by a police cruiser, where he was treated and released.

New Sertoma officers attend district meeting

Newly elected officials of the Sertoma Club attended the South Central Ohio District 1974-75 Leadership Conference held Sunday in the L&K Restaurant, Circleville.

Paul Winerbotham, president-elect, and Linley Carson, secretary-treasurer-elect, of the local Sertoma unit, attended.

Thomas P. McGuire of Columbus, district governor-elect spoke to the newly elected officers of the 13 Sertoma Clubs of the district on his theme "The Golden Gate of Service." His challenge was made to the officers that a year from now there will be many new members heard to say that when the membership gates of Sertoma were opened to them, it truly opened the Golden Gates of Service to Mankind.

Carson also attended the secretary's leadership portion of the Conference.

Lawyers push case for Calley

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Attorneys for William L. Calley Jr. present oral arguments today in support of their requests that the government produce testimony heard by Army and congressional committees that investigated the 1968 My Lai massacre.

Briefs already had been filed in U.S. District Court here in support of Calley's efforts to have his court-martial conviction for slaying 22 Vietnamese villagers overturned.

Calley's appeal concerns whether his constitutional rights were violated by military court.

Scenes at WSHS graduation

TOP STUDENTS — Karen Beaver, foreground above, was one of Washington Senior High School's seniors recognized Sunday for having been awarded a grant or scholarship. With all 44 of the pictured award winners planning to continue their formal education, they will be largely responsible for undertaking the tasks outlined by the Rev. Wilbur Bullock, below, the guest speaker. Mr. Bullock, who delivered the scripture reading and class sermon, stated that he hopes the class will take an active part in making this a better world than is being left to their care by his generation.

Seven cities represented at local bridge tourney

Local participants faltered Saturday as pairs from Columbus captured the first two overall places in the Washington C.H. Duplicate Bridge Tournament.

The two-session tournament was won by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Zucker, who tallied 211 matchpoints in the par 168 game. Behind them were Bill Lipton and Dick Rudolph, who had 107.

However, section tops were captured by Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Wright, 505 N. North St.; Dr. Norbert Nissimov and Mrs. Craig Vandermark, of Greenfield, and George Malek, 528 E. Temple St., and Bruno Sestito, of Columbus with the two latter pairs tying for a section top in the evening session.

Mrs. Gay Jackson, Ohio 41-N, and Lloyd VanVliet, of Chillicothe, took section thirds in each of the two sessions, and Mr. an and Mrs. Wright had a section third in the evening to add to their first place in the afternoon.

Sestito and Malek placed third overall, and the Wrights were fifth in the overall scoring.

Filling out the top five finishers were Kelly Dillon and Willard White, both of Columbus, who placed fourth overall.

Thirty pairs participated, eight of them from Washington C.H. Other areas represented were Greenfield, Columbus, Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Sabina, and Springfield, the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Wright, who hosted the game.

The tournament was directed by Nick Herold, of Columbus, who was assisted by caddies Wendy Coil and Diane Jackson, both of Washington C.H.

The tournament was held in the Washington Hotel, and dinner was served in the Washington Inn.

Recognition program honors New Holland eighth graders

NEW HOLLAND — Thirty students were honored Sunday at New Holland Eighth Grade Recognition Night.

Mark Hurtt and Brenda Reinhart were named the top boy and girl student respectively and received awards.

Principal Jean R. Creamer presented medals to class valedictorian Brenda Reinhart, salutatorian Randy Slutz and scholarship medals to Christine Landman, Nancy Wolfe and Terry Thompson.

Recognition also went to David Hennessey as the school's top basketball player.

Band members receiving plaques were Lynn Drake, Rita Minshall, Randy Slutz, Nancy Wolfe, Rhonda Hecoax, Loretta Helsel, Terry Thompson, Kathy Jacobs, Barbara Johnson and Christine Landman.

The band and folk singers presented several numbers.

Students with perfect attendance, student council members, class officers, office workers and cafeteria workers were also recognized.

C of C dinner to be Tuesday

Approximately 250 members and guests will be on hand Tuesday evening when the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce concludes one year under the leadership of President Fred L. Domenico, and begins another under the guidance of President-Elect Bruce Galloway.

Ticket sales have assured a good turnout for the meeting which will be held in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Kline L. Roberts, President of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce will address the meeting. Roberts' topic is "The Excitement of Pride."

The meeting will also recognize outgoing and newly elected Chamber directors, and the winning team in the 1974-75 Membership Drive, which terminates at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon.

County Board to consider routine items

Personnel matters and a number of routine items are on the agenda for this week's Fayette County Board of Education meeting. The board will meet at 8 p.m. in its offices.

The resignations of a cook and a bus driver and the employment of a teacher and a cook are to be considered. The hiring of summer driver education teachers is also scheduled.

Other matters to be considered include authorization of a Title I project, consideration of the disadvantaged pupil program, and authorization of a summer recreation program.

Also to be considered are a request for use of the Jeffersonville school building and requests from teachers to attend professional meetings.

Rollback funds given counties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four Ohio counties will share $1.33 million in first half 1973 reimbursements for granting homestead exemptions to the elderly, state Auditor Joseph Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said the counties got another $26,653 to administer the homestead exemption program.

Hamilton County got $1.18 million for giving elderly homeowners the tax break, while Seneca County got $86,370, Champaign $39,467 and Madison $30,125, he said.

Kennedy tops Ford

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would outpoll Vice President Gerald R. Ford if a presidential election were held now, according to the latest Gallup poll.

In a poll of 1,543 adults May 10-13, 50 per cent preferred Kennedy, 39 per cent favored Ford and 11 per cent were undecided on how they would vote.

Other Gallup surveys conducted this year identified the two men as the top choices of Democratic and Republican voters for the presidential nominations of their parties.

The latest poll followed recent Gallup findings that 24 per cent of American voters identified themselves as Republicans, 42 per cent said they were Democrats and 34 per cent identified themselves as independents.

Fear wave of fascism in Italy

ROME (AP) — The band of uniformed young men pitched their tents deep in the wilderness, chopped wood and cooked on an open fire like weekend campers on a holiday.

But when a police patrol, alerted by an edgy villager, approached the camp in the mountains northeast of Rome last week, it was met by a blistering round of submachine gun fire. The police fired back, killing one youth and capturing two others.

Authorities said they were members of the Mussolini Action Squad, right-wing adventurers named in memory of Italy's Fascist dictator.

Two days before, a bomb was set off during a large antifascist rally in Brescia, a northern industrial city troubled by violence for some months. Seven persons were killed, 100 injured.

To many Italians, such incidents recall the climate of violence and fear which preceded Mussolini's coming to power 50 years ago. They refer to it as a "strategy of tension" aimed at capitalizing on Italy's worst economic crisis since the war to bring another dictator to power.

Right-wing extremist groups are mushrooming, under such names as the New Order, the Black Order, the Year Zero and the National Vanguard. Conservative estimates put their total membership at only 12,000 of Italy's 54 million people, but other sources say it is much higher.

Many members come from families of comfortable means or are sons of low-level state employes, according to police descriptions.

One source said the rightwing terrorists have strong ideas about bringing order to this country of frequent strikes but "some of them are really crazy and have no political ideas."

Italian law is liberal toward such "extraparliamentary" groups. But in a precedent-setting decision last year, a court banned the New Order. It ruled the group was an attempt to reconstruct the Fascist party, outlawed by the postwar constitution.

A Milan prosecutor applied the same law to the leader of the neo-fascist Italian Social Movement, the MSI, the country's fourth largest political party.

The MSI received 2.8 million votes in the 1972 national election, nearly 9 per cent of the total. The party has 82 of the 924 seats in the two houses of Parliament.

Giorgio Almirante, the head of the party, was an official in Mussolini's wartime government. He says he is not ashamed of those days but rejects the fascist label now.

A year ago Parliament stripped Almirante of his immunity as a deputy so he could be charged with reconstructing the Fascist party, but there has been no move yet to bring him to trial.

U.S. pulls last unit from Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The United States today withdrew the last of the 216 military men it sent to Laos 16 months ago, ending a decade of direct military involvement in the Indochinese kingdom's civil war, diplomatic sources reported.

The last of the force of special "military attaches" took a commercial flight to Bangkok, Thailand, the sources said.

The Laotian peace accords specify that all foreign troops are to be out of the country by June 4. The last of more than 17,000 Thai troops pulled out two weeks ago, but military sources say there is no evidence that North Vietnamese has withdrawn any of the estimated 25,000-30,000 troops it has along its supply lines through southeast Laos to the Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Informed sources said the United States probably will continue reconnaissance flights over Laos to keep tabs on North Vietnamese troop movements.

The peace agreements also set Tuesday as the deadline for release of all prisoners of war in Laos, but U.S. sources said it looks "almost certain" that the Pathet Lao will not free American pilot Emmet James Kay.

Kay, 47, a civilian flying for Continental Air Services Inc., is the last American known to be a prisoner in Indochina. He was captured on May 7, 1973.

Walleye runners being sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A State Division of Wildlife official says airplanes and boats are being pressed into an allout effort to halt bootlegging of mercury-tainted walleyes in Lake Erie by hit-and-run fishermen.

The division's chief of law enforcement, Dale E. Roach, said the smugglers are operating like prohibition-era rum-runners.

Parliament sets debate on Ireland

LONDON (AP) — The British Parliament interrupted its spring vacation today for an emergency debate on the future of Northern Ireland amid growing sentiment for British withdrawal from the province after nearly five years of bloodshed.

More than 1,000 persons have died in the war between Northern Ireland's Protestant majority and the Roman Catholic community, outnumbered two to one. The dead include more than 200 British soldiers who tried to restore peace.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called Parliament back into session after a coalition of moderate Protestants and Catholics attempting to govern Northern Ireland was forced to resign. The British government resumed direct rule of the province after a 15-day general strike led by militant Protestants opposed to the sharing of power with the Catholics.

Although there was considerable belief in British political circles before the strike that the moderates in Northern Ireland eventually would win out, many of Wilson's Laborites, some Conservatives and a number of Liberals now reportedly favor setting a date for Britain to get out of Northern Ireland.

The tabloid Daily Mirror, which has a national circulation of more than 4 million, devoted its entire front page today to what it called Britain's gravest crisis since the British-French invasion of Suez in 1956 and to a decision the country must face: Pulling out its troops and abandoning sovereignty over the province.

Mass transit funds virtually untouched

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mass transit woes of many cities have one solution waiting for them in Washington. It's bushels of money—estimated at up to $4 billion—available but virtually untouched for almost a year.

All it takes is willingness by state and local governments to make a choice between roads, cars that use them and the fuel they use against energy-saving mass transit.

Last August, Congress passed and President Nixon signed into law a bill freeing billions of dollars from the federal highway trust fund to be used for public transportation, such as buying buses or railcars, or other capital expenses.

Yet, only one state has taken advantage of the law and one other has an application on file with the federal government.

Massachusetts on Thursday received $671 million for use for public mass transit in the Boston area and for a section of highway in the southeastern part of the state. Pennsylvania has filed an application for the Philadelphia area, which could yield about $165 million.

A spokesman for the Urban Mass Transit Administration of the Transportation Department said more states have not taken advantage of the law because cities view public transportation not as a service but as a burden. A spokesman for DOT's Federal Highway Administration said there is about $4 billion available for public mass transit that cities have not sought.

Asked if there were liabilities in requesting the money, the UMTA spokesman said, "Disadvantages? No, not that I can think of, if a state has done its research."

Money received under the act would not cut back on other federal transportation-related funds going to the state, she said.

Massachusetts decided it would be of more benefit to have the money that would have been spent on one section of Interstate highway—a beltway stretch around Boston— transferred for expenditure on public mass transportation needs.

If states opt for the transportation, it can only be publicly owned mass transit, and the money comes from Washington after the federal government is convinced the stretch of highway is not vital to the national Interstate system; that the state and local government have a viable transit plan accompanied by reports on environmental impact, civil rights and so on.

New political leadership urged

LOS ANGELES(AP)—New political leadership is needed to correct the nation's economic woes, the president of the United Auto Workers union told delegates to the group's 24th constitutional convention.

"The economic management of the country is in palsied hands," Leonard Woodcock said Sunday as he helped open the UAW's week-long gathering.

"As President Nixon stalls impeachment proceeding ... the situation worsens," Woodcock said. He added: "We look to the 1974 elections to correct this situation. We are in trouble in this country because the executive branch has abused its power. We seek to restore a balance of power. We aren't asking for a veto-proof Congress, just one that's responsive."

Veteran cultivates marijuana garden

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Kenneth Kays is not your government-issue hero. His victory garden is full of marijuana, and he is determined to keep it as a symbol of his freedom.

Kays, 24, won the Medal of Honor and was honored at the White House for his heroism in Vietnam.

A draft resister-turned-medic, Kays lost a leg in battle in May 1970 but repeatedly crawled past his lines to rescue and treat wounded comrades.

Today his battleground is a 1,000 square-foot patch near his trailer in this southern Illinois town where he farms the illegal marijuana plants for his own personal use.

With practiced ease, he swings down the rows on his artificial leg hoeing, raking and tilling. A headband secures his long, sun-tinted hair which cascades into his beard.

Kays was raised in Fairfield, population 6,000, and attended Southern Illinois University. He was discharged from the Army in 1970, and has been living here on disability checks since.

What he did in Vietnam and what he is doing now are part of the same personal quest for freedom and what is just, even if it conflicts with the law, Kays said.

Kays resisted going into military service. When his induction notice came, he left for Canada. But, unsure he was doing the right thing, he reported 31 days late and volunteered to be a medic.

The medal he earned has no value of itself, only the experience it represents, and has often been a source of trouble, he said, brings him unwanted attention and praise.

Kays, arrested twice and convicted once for possession and cultivation of marijuana, was sentenced to one year's probation.

Two weeks after his first arrest, the sheriff discovered Kays was still growing marijuana and arrested him again. The prosecutor is seeking to revoke probation.

"I don't wish to fight, but I'm not going to quit," he said. "I will trust to the courts to see that justice is done.

Reds prepare for invasion of New York

Cincinnati routs Pittsburgh, 5-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sunday was Pete Rose Poster Day in Cincinnati and a roaring crowd of 38,000 turned out to cheer for their home-grown hero. But today's the day the Cincinnati Reds superstar has not been waiting for.

Rose and the Reds return to New York Shea Stadium—site of last October's mini-war.

The welcome mat is not expected to be out.

Rose says he's become baseball's "most booed Most Valuable Player" since his fistswinging affair with Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson triggered a mad melee in the National League playoffs last fall.

The Reds head to New York with eight victories in their last nine games, with a three-game sweep of the Mets included in the resurgence.

Sunday, Cincinnati rode the pitching of Fred Norman and Pedro Borbon to a 5-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The triumph came a day after the Bucs had humbled the Reds 14-1, snapping a seven-game winning streak.

But the victory may have been costly. Norman, who sports the best earned run average among the five-man starting staff, suffered a pulled rib cage muscle. His status is cloudy, according to a Reds physician.

Norman yielded only two hits in 6 2-3 innings, before the muscle pull forced him off the mound.

"You don't like to come out of a game with a two-hitter, but I just couldn't go any further," he said. "From the fourth inning on it kept getting a little worse."

Meanwhile, he was getting support from Tony Perez, who slammed his 100th home run in Cincinnati, and Dave Concepcion who drilled three hits.

Borbon came on to nail down the victory for Norman, now 5-5. Bruce Kison, 2-3, took the loss.

The Reds send newcomer Clay Kirby, 3-3, against Jon Matlack, 5-2, in tonight's series opener.

It was Matlack's 5-0 two-hitter against Cincinnati in the second game of the playoffs that ignited a word war between Rose and Harrelson.

Harrelson wondered aloud if the Reds weren't "swinging from their heels." Rose countered with a suggestion that Harrelson save his batting tips for his teammates.

The Battle of Shea erupted the next day when Rose barreled into Harrelson at second base attempting to break up a double play. More words flew. And then fists.

When the dust cleared, Rose was met by an outpouring of anger from Mets fans, who blitzed the Reds star with obscenities and objects.

The same reaction has continued at other National League stops this season.

Last week, Harrelson said he hoped it would end. "I wish the fans would get off his back. I can't understand why those other cities are involved. This thing is none of their business," he said.

Prep sweep predicted for southwest teams

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Blunt-speaking Howard Converse predicted a Southwestern Ohio sweep today of the 1974 state high school baseball championships.

"We should win all three classes. The best baseball is played in our area," Converse crowed Saturday after coaching Cincinnati Princeton to a 10-3 romp over Lima Senior in a Class AAA semifinal game.

Cincinnati Reading in Class AA, bidding for a fifth state baseball crown, and 1973 football playoff king Middletown Fenwick in Class A were the other Southwestern Ohio hopefuls in the finals at Ohio State University.

Princeton, 29-13, tried to succeed Cincinnati Elder as the big school champion. The Vikings faced Wickliffe, 17-8, for the Class AAA championship.

Reading, the titleholder in 1942-44-46-57, matched its 31-4 record against Wooster Triway's 21-4 mark for the Class AA crown, succeeding St. Paris Graham.

Fenwick, victor 28 times in 31 games this season, took on Carroll, 19-6, of Fairfield County for the Class A laurels. Portsmouth East won last year's small school crown.

Princeton posted the most one-sided verdict in the semifinals, sending 10 men to the plate in a six-run fourth inning against 1964 champion Lima Senior, out with a 16-4 record.

Meanwhile, stylish southpaw Steve Nagel scattered eight Lima hits to register his 13th pitching victory this season.

Wilson selected for prep honors

Scouting Systems of America has announced that Chuck Wilson has been selected to the 1973-74 High School All America Football Team.

CHUCK WILSON

Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilson, 526 Delaware St., was a two-way starter for Washington Senior High's football team for three years. In those three years, Wilson accumulated a total of nine records.

His records include longest punt return of 76 yards, 39 carries in one game, 269 yards rushing in one game, 279 carries in one season, 1,531 yards rushing in one season, 6.46 yards per carry in one season, 3,167 yards rushing in his career, 189 points in one season and career total offense leader with 3,467 yards.

During the past season, Wilson was a first team selection in the South Central Ohio League, Southeastern Ohio Class AA Back of the Year, first team All-Ohio and Associated Press Back of the Year. He also received honorable mention in Prep All-American.

Buzz Capra stings Expos in Braves' 9-0 shutout

By The Associated Press

The "long man" is the guy in the bullpen who can be counted on to pitch five or six solid innings of relief.

To Buzz Capra, "long" meant about two years.

The New York Mets' castoff and refugee from the bullpen, who's been trying for that long to show he really is a starter, is achieving his goal.

On Sunday, though, he had to work to prove it. He gave up 10 Montreal hits—but none of the base-runners managed to get back where they started—home plate.

So, backed by a 16-hit Atlanta assault, the Braves' right-hander coasted, in a manner of speaking, to a 9-0 rout over the Expos.

In Sunday's other National League games, the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 7-6, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 5-1, Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 4-3 and St. Louis outlasted San Diego 9-6. The Mets' game against Houston was rained out.

The Braves picked Capra up in a straight cash deal. So far, he's been a bargain.

Braves manager Eddie Mathews started using him when starter Ron Reed was injured facing San Diego May 15. Capra came on and, with some late help, picked up a shutout victory.

And he's been coming on strong as a starter since then, four-hitting the Dodgers May 19, shutting out Houston on three hits May 24, pitching nine innings of three-hit ball in the Braves' 10-inning 2-1 victory over Philadelphia last Tuesday night, then blanking the Expos.

Cubs 7, Dodgers 6

Mike Marshall, making his 34th appearance of the season, walked Jerry Morales and Billy Williams in the seventh inning, then Jose Cardenal drove his fourth homer of the season into the left field bleachers, putting Chicago in front 6-4. Then Rick Monday doubled and scored what proved to be the winning run on a single by Carmen Fanzone.

Phils 4, Giants 3

Greg Luzinski crashed a two-runn homer, capping a four-run eighth inning that powered the Phils past the Giants.

Cards 9, Padres 6

Ted Sizemore drew a basesloaded walk to force home St. Louis' tie-breaking run and Reggie Smith's singled home two more in the four-run eighth that saddled the Padres with their ninth straight loss.

Good Hope takes opener with 9-4 win

Good Hope's Little League squad opened its season with a 9-4 victory over New Holland on the loser's diamond.

Steve Grooms paced the hitting attack for the winners with three hits. Jimmy Perrill, Scott Grooms and Randy Boyer each contributed two hits each. Larry Cline was the winning pitcher, as he needed relief help from Scott Grooms.

Horney smashed a home run for New Holland. Blanton was tagged with the loss.

Menne captures Kemper Open

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — He'd often considered quitting. He'd won less than $30,000 in 3½ years. Car trouble coming into Charlotte had just about busted him. He was down to gas money to the next stop. His wife was cooking hamburgers in the motel room.

And, with that background and that pressure, longshot Bob Menne birdied the final hole of regulation play to gain a tie and then scored from 30 feet on the first hole of sudden death to win the $50,000 first prize in the Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"It means everything to me," the curly-haired man from Massachusetts said after his dramatic triumph Sunday. "It means the Masters and the Tournament of Champions. And it means money.

"Golly, $50,000."

Menne, 32, a struggler throughout his six-year tour career, whipped an iron shot to within six feet of the cup for the birdie on the 72nd hole that caught front-running Jerry Heard, then defeated the easygoing guy with the dramatic birdie putt on the first playoff hole.

"If I have to lose," said Heard, "I'm glad it's to Bob. He needs the money. I'm glad it's him and not somebody like (Jack) Nicklaus that's got more money than he'll ever need."

And Nicklaus and all the other great names in the game were in the field. They had to be. The tournament, which offered $250,000 in total prizes, is one of three designated tournaments on the schedule, tournaments in which the game's leading players are required to play.

Menne had to win his way into the field by qualifying in an 18-hole round on Monday.

He won it with a final round of 67 and a total of 270, 18 under par on the 7,085-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course. Heard matched that total with a last-round 70.

Dave Hill just missed the playoff by a single stroke at 271. He bolted into contention on the strength of a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 in the last round. Lee Trevino, also in contention until the last nine holes, had a 69—272.

Billy Casper and J.C. Snead, each with a 69, were at 273. The other big guns were strung out further back.

Jack Nicklaus had 70—278. Johnny Miller was 70—280. Gary Player scored 72—286. Arnold Palmer und Tom Weiskopf started but didn't qualify for the final two rounds.

Two Little League teams handed first season losses

Downtown Drug and the Jets each suffered their first loss of the season in the Washington Little League, as Levi Boys stopped Downtown Drug 8-2 and Rotary Wheels conquered the Jets 7-1, Saturday afternoon.

Levi Boys pounded out 11 hits in their victory, as Todd Warnecke's double was the only extra base hit of the contest. In picking up the victory, Charle Wheeler struck out nine and walked one, while yielding five hits.

Brian Dodds hurled a four-hitter for the Wheels. He struck out 11 batters and walked four in the contest. William Pressler double for the winners.

In the only Minor League contest, Roller Haven blasted Helfrich's 16-7. Ronald Murnahan led the winners' attack by belting a triple and a home run.

Rain stops golf tourney

Whitworth says a rain-shortened golf tournament leaves "an unfinished feeling," but Sunday's storm didn't dampen the spirits of Judy Rankin.

"A win is a win," said Mrs. Rankin, who pocketed a check for $5,700 after officials of the Baltimore Golf Championship canceled the final round and declared her the winner with a two-under par 144 for 36 holes.

Mrs. Rankin conceded that it "takes a little off by sort of backing in," but noted she had played well in the first two rounds except for consecutive bogies on the 13th, 14th and 15th holes in Saturday's second round.

Before faltering, Mrs. Rankin held a four-stroke lead and was threatening to make a runaway of the $40,000 tournament.

Colonial Stair wins tourney

Colonial Stair won the Drakes double-elimination softball tournament in Blanchester over the past weekend. During the tournament, Colonial Stair played seven games and registered victories in six of them.

Ruhlman of Cincinnati handed Colonial Stair its only loss, 9-6, in the finals. Therefore, since it was Colonial Stair's first loss of the tourney, the two teams met again with Colonial Stair winning 4-3.

In a low-scoring tournament, Colonial Stair out-hit its opponents 75-70 and had 48 runs in comparison to 34 for the opponents.

Top hitters for the winners included Sid Woodrow, who batted .643, Steve Dawson with a .583 average and Jim Kramer with a .526 average.

Light records second ace

Burnham Light recorded the second hole-in-one of the season at the Washington Country Club, Saturday afternoon.

Light aced the eighth hole, which is 140 yards, with a five iron on his second round. It was the first hole-in-one ever for Light, who is a member of the board of directors at the Washington Country Club. He was playing with Richard Lewis, Donald Crabtree and Howard Burnett.

Jim Wightman turned in the first ace of the season on May 14.

Evert wins tennis open

ROME (AP) — It wasn't her richest victory, but Chris Evert was really happy she had finally won a major international tennis tournament.

Miss Evert, 19, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat 17-year-old Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-3 Sunday in the final of the women's singles at the Rome Tennis Open.

Miss Evert plays in the French Open later this week. She was a finalist there last year, as she was in Rome and Wimbledon.

The women's top prize in Rome was $5,000. Miss Evert has won much more in other tournaments.

"It's not just the money, it's the prestige", she said. "That's why I want to win in Paris, too."

American League roundup

Athletics continue flurry in West

By The Associated Press

The Oakland A's are still mad at the world ... and the rest of the American League's West Division isn't laughing much, either.

The A's, who seem to play best when they're sore about something, had a couple of gripes as they ran their winning streak to four games and 17 of 23 with Sunday' 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The two-time world champs are starting to put some daylight between themselves and the rest of the division. After the victory over the Brewers, the A's have a 3½-game bulge over the second-place Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Texas Rangers 6-5 in 10 innings, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Chicago White Sox 9-7, the Cleveland Indians trimmed Kansas City 5-2, the New York Yankees pounded the Minnesota Twins 11-1 and the Detroit Tigers shaded the California Angels 2-0.

Winning pitcher Catfish Hunter was angry about being lifted. And some A's were upset by a post-game player move that saw backup first baseman Pat Bourque sent to the minors.

Hunter checked the Brewers on seven hits, including Bob Coluccio's second-inning homer, before giving way to Rollie Fingers after two-out singles by George Scott and Darrell Porter in the eighth inning. Bob Hansen greeted the reliever with a run-scoring single.

Bourque, hitting a solid .286, was farmed out to make room for light-hitting infielder Dal Maxvill, reactivated from the disabled list.

Oakland's key hitting was done by Reggie Jackson, who slammed his 14th and 15th home runs, and Joe Rudi, who cracked a three-run shot.

Orioles 6, Rangers 5

Rich Coggins singled home pinch runner Al Bumbry with two out in the 10th inning, giving rookie Wayne Garland his first major league triumph with 5 2-3 innings of two-hits relief.

Red Sox 9, White Sox 7

Rico Petrocelli drilled a pair of two-run homers, one of them capping a five-run third inning. The victory was the 11th in the last 14 games for the Red Sox and gave them a 1½-game lead over Milwaukee in the American League East.

Indians 5, Royals 2

Solo homers by Leron Lee, Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan boosted Gaylord Perry and the Indians over Kansas City.

Yankees 11, Twins 1

Home runs by Lou Piniella, Rick Dempsey and Ron Blomberg sparked a seven-run sixth inning that helped Mel Stottlemyre snap a personal five-game losing streak and post his first victory since April 30.

Tigers 2, Angels 0

Norm Cash broke up a scoreless duel with an eighth-inning home run and Woodie Fryman and John Hiller blanked California on four hits.

Walther dies in boat mishap

MIAMI (AP) — The day before George "Skipp" Walther died, he foresaw no problem in adjusting to a racing boat larger than any he ever had driven.

"You have to run 140, 150 miles an hour in the five-litre boats to be competitive," he said. "You can't do much better than that in an unlimited here."

At 150 m.p.h. Sunday, the Red Man hydroplane Walther was driving in a trial run around the tight-turned Miami Marine Stadium bounced out of control, its 6,500 pounds turning over onto him.

He was declared dead less than a half hour later, having suffered massive skull fractures and brain injuries. His right arm was severed at the elbow.

Walther's wife Sandy, pregnant with the couple's first child, saw her husband's spill from the pits. She was treated for shock after accompanying Walther to the hospital where he died.

Walther, 27, was supposed to be driving his own boat in the $30,000 unlimited regatta. But a delay in its completion and an injury to Red Man owner Jim McCormick earlier in the week changed that.

Walther's father George N. Walther Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, has raced hydroplanes for years. His brother Dave "Salt" Walther was severely burned in a spectacular crash at the Indianapolis 500 last year. Salt, who also pilots hydroplanes, made a comeback this year, finishing 17th at Indy.

British Amateur golf championship opens

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — A field of nearly 250 golfers was to begin play today, aiming to beat America's defending titleholder Dick Siderowf in the British Amateur Golf Championship.

Siderowf, of Westport, Conn., hoping to become only the second American to win this coveted prize two years in a row, was matched against little-know Irish Perry Malone in the first round.

Memphis Blues pounds Charleston, 5-2, 7-0

By The Associated Press

The Memphis Blues pounded the Charleston Charlies 5-2 and 7-0 Sunday to sweep their fourgame International League series.

The wins improved the Blues' lead to three games over Richmond in the IL's South Division.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

The executive editor of a well-known New York subsidy publishing firm will be in Chillicothe in July. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication. All subjects will be considered, including fiction and non-fiction, poetry, juveniles, religious books, etc.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment. please mention your phone number. You will promptly receive confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to us for a free reading and evaluation. We will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress. Please address:

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3♠	Pass	4♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Some hands played in the annual world championship prove to be downright embarrassing to the participants.

For example, consider this deal played in 1973 in the match between the Dallas Aces, who were the defending champions, and another U.S. team consisting of Paul Soloway, John Swanson, Jeff Rubens, Andy Bernstein and the father-son combination of B. Jay and Mike Becker.

When Soloway and Swanson were North-South, they got to four spades in the manner shown, easily making seven!

When Wolff and Hamman of the Aces held the North-South cards, they bid the hand exactly the same way and also made seven!

There was no strong feeling at the time that either North player had done anything particularly wrong by raising three spades to four, although the odds in favor of making seven were about 3 to 1.

The Italian team, when they played the same hand against Indonesia, managed to reach the grand slam. With Garozzo North and Belladonna South, the bidding went:

South	West	North	East
3♠	Pass	4♣	Pass
4♦	Dble	Pass	Pass
Redble	Pass	5 NT	Pass
7♠

Four clubs was a cuebid inferentially accepting spades as trumps and, at the same time, requesting South to pinpoint his hand further.

Four diamonds was also a cuebid, showing diamond control. The subsequent redouble by South confirmed first-round diamond control.

Five notrump was the grand slam force, asking South to bid seven spades if he had two of the three top trump honors. So Belladonna bid seven, which he made, and the Italians thus provided another dramatic example of their over-all excellence in the field of slam bidding.

Kidney Stone Attacks

I have had two kidney stone attacks. Does this mean that I can anticipate more attacks? The pain is so bad that I live in constant dread that it will happen again.

— Mr. T.H., Calif.

Dear Mr. H.:

Anyone who has ever experienced an attack of kidney stones can appreciate the intensity of that pain. Doctors who treat such conditions feel, too, that there are few less distressing types of pain.

The fact that you have had two attacks of stones in the kidney or in the ureters does not mean that you will have a chronic susceptibility to stone formation.

It does, however, mean that the basic cause for the formation of the stones must be eliminated if you are to be free of concern.

Infections, inflammation and irritation are responsible for the deposit of calcium, which is the beginning of a stone.

Some stones contain uric acid and are related to a gouty tendency. This can be controlled by diet and drugs.

There are now many extensive tests by which the entire urinary tract can be studied. Special dyes, X-ravs. studies of the blood and the urine can help pinpoint the exact reason for stone formation.

Only in this way can you be freed from anxiety.

My wife says she has a "nervous stomach." Is there such a condition?

— Mr. E.B.L., Ohio

Dear Mr. L.:

The term is often used by the laity as a description of a wide variety of intestinal complaints.

It does not have any medical significance. The stomach is said to be a very sympathetic neighbor, and quickly reacts to conditions in nearby organs. This might include disorders of the intestines, the liver or the gall bladder.

"Nervous stomach" may therefore have many physical and emotional causes.

The only way to be relieved, of course, is to carefully evaluate the nature of the complaint and follow through with the many available studies.

May's rainfall figures increase actual averages

A stormy month of May deposited more than five inches of rain on Washington C. H., according to the monthly report prepared by Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer in Washington C. H.

The precipitation total for the 31-day period at Stookey's recording station, 134 E. Ohio Ave., was a soaky 5.62 inches, 1.81 inches above the over-the-years May average of 3.81 inches.

May rainfall brought the total precipitation for the first third of the year to 16.80 inches, a 1974 deficiency of .81 of an inch when compared with an average of 17.61 inches for the first five months of the year.

The May precipitation total last year was 4.55 inches, Stookey's records disclose.

Minimum daily temperatures for the past month ranged from a low of 31 on May 7 to a high of 66 on May 17. Maximum daily temperatures ranged from a low of 56 on three dates to a high of 87 on May 17.

There was precipitation on 14 of May's 31 days, ranging from a trace on May 4 to a soaking 1.45 inches on May 18.

Here are the actual Washington C. H. precipitation figures for the year to date as compared with the established averages:

	Act.	Avg.
January	2.94	3.38
February	1.99	2.44
March	3.31	3.99
April	2.91	3.99
May	5.62	3.81
Totals	16.80	17.61

Mayor Daley has operation

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley is in good condition after undergoing surgery to remove fatty deposits in an artery on the left side of his neck.

Dr. Hushang Javid and two assistants performed the 90-minute operation Sunday at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center. It was designed to prevent a major stroke from occurring, a Daley spokesman said.

Daley, 72, had a minor stroke May 6 and was hospitalized for 12 days. He was expected to stay in the hospital several days.

Firemen make 2 runs Sunday

An electrical short in an automatic dishwasher motor and a dropped cigarette were responsible for two fires Sunday, the Washington C.H. Fire Department reported.

The short in the electric dishwasher motor developed at 2:13 p.m., at the Donald Crabtree residence, 213 River Rd.

Firemen at the scene reported $50 damage to the dishwasher and minor smoke damage to the inside of the Crabtree house.

The other fire started when a cigarette was dropped on the floormat of a car owned by Dale Cowman, 720 John St., at 9:12 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen were dispatched to the corner of Dayton Avenue and Jupiter Street, where the incident occurred, and reported $20 damage to the floor of the car.

Two seats remain vacant on Milledgeville Council

MILLEDGEVILLE—The Village Council didn't get its two vacant seats filled, but it came close when Mrs. Wahneta Haffner said after the meeting Saturday afternoon that she was willing to take one of them. She will be installed at next meeting if she doesn't change her mind.

As for the other vacancy, Mayor Ronald Anderson said "we don't have anyone in mind right now" and then added "maybe we'll have to call for volunteers. . .Someone who'll take the job."

The vacancies were the result of the resignations of Wilbur Anders Jr. and Dan Caldwell in April.

Although the Council is anxious to fill the vacant seats it took action Saturday to clamp down on owners of unlicensed "junk" cars left on the village streets and public alleys.

At the first meeting in May, Council adopted a resolution, which gave "junk" car owners 30 days to get them out of sight. Mayor Anderson told Council Saturday that 20 of these "eyesores" had been located in the village last week and that at least two others had been towed away. When the cars which were towed away were not claimed, they went to the junkyard. After this discussion, Council agreed that owners of unlicensed "junk" cars left on the street or alleys would be cited into court for violation of the village's "junk car" ordinance.

Still pushing its campaign for a cleaner, neater village, Council agreed to reopen its case against L. J. Hill, of Columbus if necessary to get a cleanup of the property where the elevator was destroyed by fire about three years ago. After the case was taken to Municipal Court here about a year ago, much of the debris was cleaned up, but Council wants the job finished and will take its complaints back to court if necessary, Mayor Anderson said.

Council agreed that the town should be given a mosquito-fogging within the next couple of weeks. Residents will be notified in advance, so they can close their home if they like, the mayor said.

Anticancer drugs eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government cancer fighters plan to explore a possibility that some of the life-saving anticancer drugs may provide a kind of double-barreled control over malignancy.

New-found tentative evidence indicates that one such drug may sharply reduce any risk of a second, unrelated cancer developing years later as a result of a patient's initial treatment.

The new, still-unsubstantiated evidence was reported recently by Dr. Giulio J. D'Angio of New York's Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases at a conference sponsored by the American Cancer Society at Dallas, Tex. He identified the drug as Actinomycin-D, an antibiotic.

Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod of the National Cancer Institute said the institute plans to explore this evidence.

During the past year, they and others have voiced suspicions that some still-unidentified components of highly-successful drug and-or radiation treatment for certain cancers might cause unrelated second cancers in some patients, primarily children, years later.

Dr. Zubrod, director of the division of cancer treatment at NCI, said a new dimension appears opened up for research—based on the possibility suggested by Dr. D'Angio's report, that certain drugs in the arsenal of the cancer fighters might actually provide some strong built-in insurance against production of such subsequent malignancies.

"That is," he said, "some drugs may diminish the possible risk while others may enhance it, especially when such drugs are combined with radiation." He said researchers now know that radiation sometimes can cause second cancers unrelated to the one originally controlled, and that the task at hand involves identifying the safest and most dangerous drugs and modifying treatments.

Red gunners hit Bien Hoa base

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Communist gunners attacked the Bien Hoa air base today for the first time in seven months, killing 42 Vietnamese and wounding 82, police officials reported. Many of the casualties were caught by a direct hit on a prison camp.

Thirty rockets struck the sprawling air base and five surrounding villages 15 miles northeast of Saigon before dawn, the police said.

One of the 122mm rockets tore through the roof of a building inside the Tan Hiep Correctional Center, riddling more than 100 sleeping prisoners with shrapnel, Associated Press photographer Dan Van Phuoc reported.

The longest game of tiddly-winks was played in 1970 by eight Chicago students. The game lasted more than 120 hours.

Fatal British blast being investigated

FLIXBOROUGH, England (AP) — The British government today ordered a major inquiry into the Nypro chemical plant explosion that killed 29 persons and injured 105, according to latest official reports.

All the reported dead were workers at the factory in rural eastern England, but only eight bodies had been recovered by Sunday night because fires still raged over more than 20 acres of the plant site.

Damage from the explosion Saturday exceeded $140 million. The chemical plant and about 100 homes in nearby villages were ruined—their roofs blown off, windows and walls shattered.

Announcing the government inquiry, Environment Undersecretary Gordon Oakes said: "Surely dangerous processes and homes must be kept well apart." Leading newspapers speculated that government controls over chemical plants are inadequate, and one paper said the government's chief inspector of factories, Brian Harvey, told it scientists are creating technologies they do not understand fully.

Flixborough, a village of 310 persons 150 miles north of London, was declared a disaster area. The Rev. Ken O'Riordan, a Roman Catholic priest, walked the blackened streets sobbing: "This is terrible, terrible. There is nothing I can do but pray."

At the height of the blaze Saturday night, an estimated 20,000 persons living in the surrounding Lincolnshire villages and fields were evacuated to shelters set up in schools and churches because of poisonous fumes. Housewives wept as they returned to their ruined or damaged homes Sunday.

The jobs of 30,000 nylon workers in northeast England were jeopardized by the Flixborough explosion and fire. Nypro was Britain's only factory producing caprolactum, used to strengthen nylon for heavy industrial use. The plant was owned by British and Dutch interests.

The cause of the blast is still not known, but authorities said they believed it to be accidental.

Auglaize County judge selected

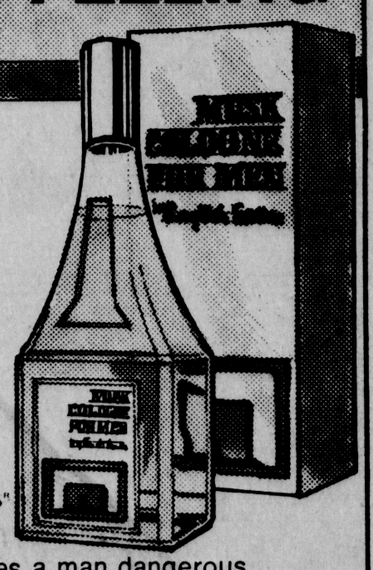

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jacob J. Boesel of St. Marys was appointed judge today of the Auglaize County Court, West District.

Boesel was named by Gov. John J. Gilligan to succeed Judge Gregory D. Wilson, who resigned.

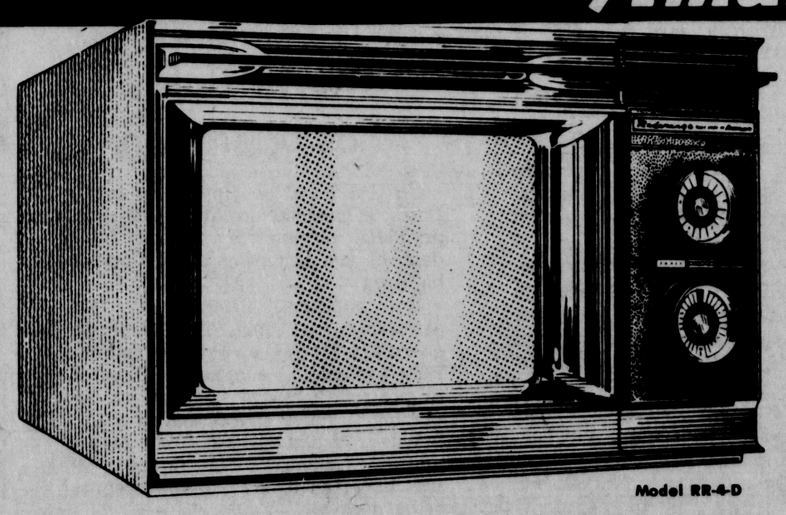

Boesel, 56, is a native of Wapakoneta and a graduate of the University of Michigan law school.
